Teamsters' Union Seeks To Paralyze L.A. Harbor

PICKET LINES HALT DOCK WORKERS

Labor Group Trying to Keep Non-organized
Trucks from Port

SAN PEDRO. (AP)—Officials of the Teamster's union, predicting a complete tie-up at Los Angeles harbor, extended picket lines today and 100 longshoremen left their jobs.

The longshoremen, working cargo on the British steamer Pacific Ranger at the Norton-Lilly dock in Wilmington, quit work after 200 pickets took up their posts before the dock.

Mile Line of Pickets
The picket line extended along a mile of docks and Harry Dahl, organizer for the Teamsters' union, declared: "We will have 500 pickets on duty by late today, and our blockade will extend to several other docks."

A complete paralysis of shipping in the harbor was forecast by Dahl.

"Developments of the general situation indicate a possibility that the whole harbor may be tied up," he announced tersely.

Issue at Stake
The issue is simply whether San Pedro will be a union port or whether non-union trucks will be allowed to operate on the docks. We intend that only union men shall work trucks here, just as union men work the ships and cargoes on the Pacific coast."

The waterfront employers' association meanwhile announced the labor relations committee had been served with a 24-hour notice asking for a hearing into stoppage of longshore work.

STRIKERS AND COPS CLASH

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP)—"Sit-down" strikers defied a court's eviction order in the Fansteel Metallurgical corporation plant in nearby North Chicago today.

At least six persons were injured in a brief battle between the strikers, estimated at 82 men, and about 125 deputy sheriffs and policemen.

The disorder broke out as Sheriff L. A. Doolittle led his men against a door of one of two occupied buildings with a battering ram. It was one of the first actual attempts to forcibly remove men from a plant in the history of "sit-down" strikes.

Strikers threw acid, pulleys and other loose objects, repulsing the deputies' effort to beat down a nailed door. They barricaded themselves in the plant Wednesday, demanding recognition of their C. I. O. union as a collective bargaining agency.

The sheriff withdrew his forces and conferred with company officials.

Citrus Secrets Exported

By KENNETH ADAMS

Every so often they come to Orange county. Keen-eyed men with little black notebooks. Absorbing knowledge of citrus culture and packing methods like a sponge does water. Going back to their native countries in all parts of the world to tell their people how to raise oranges and lemons. It seems as if you couldn't keep them out of here if you wanted to, which appears to be a question upon which opinions differ. Some citrus growers in the county object to foreigners coming here and taking away with them our secrets of citrus growing. They have spoken right up in meeting and said so.

The growers who object say this: "Why should we take for-

What Say You of Court Plan? Now's Chance to Speak

The Journal offers residents of Orange county a new service today. It will give each citizen a chance to have his or her say on President Roosevelt's proposal to revamp the supreme court. It will be in the form of a county-wide poll and each citizen is urged to register his approval or disapproval of the plan.

In sponsoring the poll, The Journal will bear all the expense of forwarding results to all representatives of Orange county at Washington, D. C. The results will be sent to Senators Hiram Johnson and William Gibbs McAdoo and to Congressman Harry Sheppard.

The poll will be continued from day to day by The Journal. It probably will last but a few days, so every interested person is urged

The Journal's Ballot on Supreme Court Plan

President Roosevelt has asked congress to pass a law providing that when a federal judge who has been a judge 10 years or more reaches the age of 70 and does not retire within six months thereafter, the President shall appoint an additional judge to his court. This law, under present conditions, would require the President to add six justices to the United States supreme court.

No plan suggested by President Roosevelt has created so much interest or aroused so much comment as his proposal to enlarge the supreme court. Within the electorate lines are sharply drawn. There are few persons without a definite opinion on the proposal. How do you feel about the matter?

Should the President be empowered to increase the membership of the supreme court? Is it a wise move? Or is it one fraught with danger? Your opinion on the matter is vital. Other polls are being conducted in progressive areas of the country, and the desires of the electorate must be made known to representatives in congress so they will know how to act.

Should President Roosevelt be vested with power to increase the supreme court membership to 15 by appointing one new member for each present member over 70 years old?

Tell The Journal what you think so it may tell our representatives at Washington. Don't delay! Fill out the coupon today! The answer is up to you!

WINANT QUILTS WALNUT CROP BOARD POST $880,785

WASHINGTON. (AP)—President Roosevelt revamped the social security board by withdrawing the nomination of John G. Winant, designating A. J. Altmeyer chairman and appointing Murray W. Latimer to fill the vacancy created by Winant's retirement.

It was the second time that Winant, former Republican governor of New Hampshire, who has served as chairman since its creation, has left the security board. His nomination to continue as chairman had been pending in the senate several weeks.

Altmeyer, a former assistant secretary of labor, will not be confirmed by the senate.

The third board member is Vincent M. Miles.

They think it isn't fair. They come here from many distant places—from Russia, Japan, Africa, Palestine, Brazil and Australia. All countries which are keenly interested in raising oranges and lemons and grapefruit.

Only recently Dr. Miki, head of the horticultural department of the University of Tokyo, was in Orange county, studying citrus methods. Not long ago a delegation from Russia was here, for the same reason.

STRIKE CURB PLANNED BY M'FADDEN

S. A. Leader Suggests
Minimum Wages for Farm Workers

Urging establishment of minimum wage rates for agricultural workers throughout the state of California, A. J. McFadden, Santa Ana, as chairman of the agricultural committee of the state chamber of commerce, fired the first shot today in a battle to discourage agricultural strikes.

McFadden's three-point program, outlined in San Francisco yesterday, was:

Continuous Jobs

"No laborer should be paid less than a certain minimum wage. The state chamber also advocated that farm operations, sequence of crops and planned exchange with industries employing common labor should be developed toward a continuous or total employment throughout the year. Further, the activities of labor contractors who defraud laborers of their wages should be controlled through licensing and bonding."

Dian R. Gardner, Orange, president of the Orange County Farm Bureau, said today farm wages in Orange county have been consistently above most other parts of the state, and that as a consequence setting up of minimum wage laws would have little effect here.

Maximum Wage

"The problem," he said, "is one which all farm agencies should study intensively, however. It is of vital importance to the industry."

Besides forwarding the minimum wage idea, McFadden urged that agricultural and industrial employers cooperate to give the laborers the maximum number of working days throughout the year. He suggested a maximum wage for laborers, consistent with the farmer's ability to pay, be set by an impartial agency, such as the state college of agriculture.

McFadden said agricultural workers are entitled to the protection of the housing and sanitary requirements of the state law. Farm owners should provide housing where possible, but if circumstances make this impossible, the housing should be provided by the farm cooperatives, camp districts, or federal agencies, the statement said.

Announcement of the McFadden plan came after a season harassed by strikes and labor troubles. It was advanced as one means of combatting this annual situation.

Last year the University of California estimated there were 70,000 families in California dependent upon income from working in the fields, harvesting various crops.

RADIO PERMIT DENIED KING

Application of Loyal E. King of Santa Ana for permission to establish a radio broadcasting station in Pasadena was recommended for denial today by a federal communications commission examiner.

The Associated Press quoted Ralph L. Walker, the examiner, as saying King had failed to show any need for additional broadcasting service in that city.

Wiley Family Has Spuds for Dinner

The Wiley family, Costa Mesa, nearly missed out on the potatoes for dinner last night.

Charles Wiley started home with a sack of potatoes, but arrived home without them. He called the Santa Ana police, and there they were.

A passerby had seen them drop from the Wiley car, picked them up, and brought them into the station.

Hoover to Talk On Court Plan

Charge Party Betrayal at Bourbon Rally; Split Seen

CLAIM G. O. P. CANDIDATES SUPPORTED

Motion Passed to Limit
Central Body Power
In New Setup

Ranks of Orange county Democrats were threatened with an open split last night when 200 Bourbons from all parts of the county gathered in the junior college auditorium to discuss plans for a county-wide organization.

Chester I. Dale started the fireworks by offering a motion that Democratic clubs of the county now existing continue in the future as they have heretofore and not under the direction of the county central committee. The motion was passed.

Reorganization

A motion also was passed to the effect that communities where no active Democratic clubs now exist be reorganized with the central committee acting in an advisory capacity only.

Dale charged that the central committee as a whole is not a 100 per cent Democratic organization, and would not ask Democrats of the county to work with it, on the grounds that some members of the central committee had openly endorsed Republican candidates at the last general election. He said the central committee men who voted Republican should resign without being asked to do so. Orin Sisson, Orange, expressed similar views.

Future Campaigns

The meeting had been called by Chairman E. Z. McKinney of the central committee to outline plans for a general county-wide organization to work with the central committees of the county and state in future campaigns and in general matters of importance to Democrats. The central committee had authorized calling of the meeting in a resolution it adopted at the last meeting.

Another mass meeting of Orange county Democrats will be called, McKinney announced today, for the purpose of completing organization and electing officers.

PLAN BIG SEWER REPAIR JOB

Northern Orange county cities may ask for a $150,000 PWA project to replace 5.6 miles of joint outfall sewer line between Garden Grove and the screening plant, it was announced today.

The proposal, and another to replace one mile of pipe between Smetzer avenue and Wintersburg avenue at a cost of $30,000, will be discussed Wednesday night at a sewer board meeting in the Anaheim city hall.

Northern cities expect to use vitrified clay pipe in the construction. E. P. Haggood, maintenance engineer said, Santa Ana, which has proposed a concrete pressure line from the screening plant to the ocean, does not have an interest in the line now in question, and will not be required to pay any of the costs.

Cities remain divided on the choice between concrete and vitrified clay for the line to the ocean.

MURDER TRIAL IS DELAYED

Superior Judge James L. Allen today delayed for an additional week his order setting a date for retrial of murder charges against Jesus Esquivel.

The delay was asked by Roland Thompson, defense attorney. Esquivel's first trial ended in a hung jury after more than two days and two nights of deliberation.

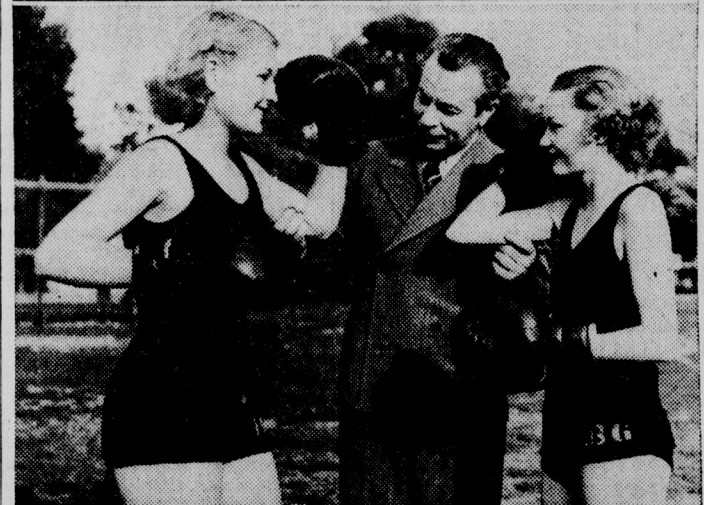

Esquivel is accused of murdering Salvador Lopez here in 1929. He admitted the shooting, but said it was in self-defense.

Pulchritude Prize IS OURS, SAYS LAGUNA

Swell Fighting Form IS EXHIBITED AT H. B.

Such lassies as these are ready for the Art Colony's attack. The Huntington Beach entries believe the Manassas Mauler treatment will win for them in the titanic battle. They'll massage their rivals with rights and lefts. Secretary Bill Gallienne of the Huntington Beach chamber, is getting them in fighting form. Ready to battle for the honor of their city are Florence Murray, left, and Marian Nell.

Battle Field Widens For Beauty War

The war front in the "Battle of Beauty" is widening! Today Harry Welch, ardent supporter of Newport-Balboa, declared war on Huntington Beach and Laguna, where boosters claim they can produce the most beautiful girls in the world. And, to top off the parade of pulchritude, Howard Wood, Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce secretary, announced boldly today that Santa Ana will challenge the winner in the "Powder Puff" war.

Wood and Welch both were considerably upset at claims of Bill Gallienne at Huntington Beach, and Capt. George Portus at Laguna, that girlish beauty in their two communities far surpasses that in other towns. Wood especially was vexed at boastful remarks of Captain Portus, and issued his challenge with grim determination to proffer bevy of beauties to bring shame upon other towns. Welch, the port booster, re-

ASHURST LAUDS COURT PLAN

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Chairman Ashurst (D., Ariz.) of the senate judiciary committee described President Roosevelt's court reorganization proposal in the senate today as "the mildest of all the bills that could have been introduced" under the circumstances.

The Arizona senator took the floor after Senator Gillette (D., Iowa)—in his maiden speech—had urged a law to prevent invalidation of acts of congress if two or more justices of the supreme court dissented.

13 MARINES INJURED IN EXPLOSION

Open Secret Probe of Tragedy on Wyoming
During Maneuvers

SAN PEDRO. (AP)—The casualty list of the explosion yesterday on the demilitarized battleship Wyoming was increased today to seven dead and 13 injured.

Marine Corporal Madison E. Humphries and Privates F. L. Tanner and C. B. Powers were added to the list of injured, it was learned after a navy board of inquiry met on the disaster ship.

Private Sydney Emsley of Atlantic City died aboard the hospital ship Relief today, the seventh victim of the explosion.

Secret Inquiry Begun

Stories of eyewitnesses of the explosion were heard near the disaster scene in secret today by officers of the Wyoming.

The officers inspected the casemate, torn by the blast of the 30 pounds of powder, in the breach of the five-inch gun. They then cross-examined survivors.

The Wyoming, with sister ships, was laying down a barrage to cover evacuation by a landing party on the beach of San Clemente island. The powder charge of a shell exploded in the breach of a starboard gun, sending fragments of steel and iron through the bodies of the gun crew and against bulkheads.

Marine Describes It

"The blast blew out parts of the bulkhead around the casemate, a small gun room projecting from the outer skin alongside the hull," said a marine who was aboard.

"I saw one boy sort of drift past me, floating through the air, half his head shot off, and land on the deck. It was awful."

"It was a terrible accident," said Capt. C. N. Hinkamp, commander of the Wyoming. "The dead are of the regular marine personnel and the fleet marine force brought out from Quantico, Va., for the battle problems here." This was the second major (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

CONVICT 2 IN VOTE FRAUD

KANSAS CITY. (AP)—A federal court today convicted two Kansas City election officials of a vote fraud conspiracy in last November's general election. It was unable to reach a verdict on three other defendants, two women and a man.

Convicted were Edson M. Walker, Democratic judge in the thirteenth precinct, twelfth Kansas City ward, and John H. Drummond, precinct captain.

The jurors reported to Federal Judge Merrill E. Otis they were unable to agree in the cases of Mrs. Anna V. O'Laughlin, Democratic clerk; Miss Loretta McEntee, Democratic judge, and Elijah Burke, young Republican judge.

A federal grand jury indicted 75 election officials and precinct workers in a sweeping investigation of asserted wholesale voting frauds in this Democratic machine-controlled city.

Tomorrow to Be Deadline for Official Business

Better transact your city, county or financial business tomorrow.

It will be the last chance until next Tuesday, because Santa Ana banks, the postoffice and county and city offices will be closed Monday, Washington's birthday.

Stores, however, will be open for business as usual on Monday.

Oil on Ocean Waters!

Oil is supposed to calm rough seas, but the great Huntington Beach tideland pool has rocked many a legislative boat. Sen. Harry Westover today gives a vivid account of the strange situation surrounding this huge supply of underground wealth, and the efforts of Orange county and the city of Huntington Beach to benefit from the slant drilling which private companies employ to bring it to the surface. What will the legislature do about the tideland oil. Read Senator Westover's article on page 4.

DRIVE TO GET WPA OFFICE PUSHED

Bourbons Here Intensify Campaign for Local Headquarters

Orange county Democrats started work in earnest today in an attempt to pry Orange county loose from San Diego Works Progress administration district.

The prying process will be brought about through a strong leverage of resolutions from organizations throughout the county which sponsor WPA projects.

Each political subdivision of the county, including cities, water districts and school districts which sponsor WPA projects, will be asked to supply individual resolutions. The board of supervisors also will be asked to adopt a resolution asking separation of Orange county from the San Diego-Orange county WPA project. The Journal learned today.

Chairman B. Z. McKinney, of the county Democratic central committee has received word from Washington to the effect that the movement would be aided if officials in Washington knew what the attitude of sponsoring organizations is. California representatives at Washington have been asked to aid the separation.

Orange county, it was said, feels that the entire WPA program in this county would be benefited by separation from San Diego county. Work would be speeded up, it is held, and a large group could secure work as administrative employees if the district were split.

If Orange county cannot be a separate district, it would prefer to be joined with Riverside and San Bernardino counties, Democratic leaders have said.

More than 2000 signatures have been secured on a petition asking establishment of the Orange county WPA as an independent unit.

Rancher to Marry St. Louis Woman

Notice of intention to wed was filed Tuesday in Santa Ana by Martin Jiles of Bolsa, prominent Orange county rancher, and Hettie Blount of St. Louis, Mo.

The latter arrived early this week, and the wedding is to take place soon, she said today, though the definite date has not been announced. The pair met in St. Louis, she stated, and have corresponded for some time.

Shoplifters Ask For Probation

Caught shoplifting here, Robert Gaines and William Randolph of Los Angeles today pleaded guilty on burglary charges and asked Superior Judge James L. Allen grant probation. The judge ordered a hearing Feb. 26.

MORE ABOUT BEAUTY WAR

fused to listen to claims of Gallienne and Portus that their girls, raised in the balmy breezes and healthful sunshine along the coast, are handsomer than lassies in the bay area.

"Pah, and also piffle," he announced sternly. "At Salbora we have the choice of all Southern California's families. Therefore the choice of beautiful girls. Also, beauty experts agree that yachting is the favored exercise for development of feminine pulchritude, thus giving girls at the harbor a head start on other entrants."

Beautiful Climate

Wood's announcement that Santa Ana would challenge the winner in the contest of the queens was greeted by loud guffaws from both the Huntington Beach and Laguna supporters. Both Captain Portus and Gallienne claim the suburban climate of their respective towns can produce such superior specimens that Santa Ana cannot be seriously considered as a contender in the "battle."

As matters now stand, three coast cities are seeking entries for the beauty contest, which will bring together the most attractive girls along the coastline. Rumors that a group from each town, meeting for the purpose of setting a time and place for the contest, came to blows and settled nothing, had not been substantiated late today.

Where to Meet

It was agreed, however, that the contest must be held on neutral ground. Some supporters have suggested the municipal bowl at Santa Ana, but the effect of the local challenge on this arrangement may change that plan, it was said.

In all three towns, warlike preparations were being made today. Laguna was reported leading at the first ballot of beauties, with a number of exceptional entries for the contest already on hand. Gallienne, who has gained note as promoter of beauty contests in the past, refused to announce his battle plan today, merely muttering that Laguna didn't have a chance. A special war correspondent, dispatched from The Journal this morning to interview a number of the angry amazons and their supporters, had not returned at press time. It is feared he may be the first casualty in the war.

MORE ABOUT WALNUTS

1935. Commissioner Tubbs' complete report on walnuts follows:

"The walnut industry is another of Orange county's orchard crops which early gained prominence both as to amount of planting, production and total income. In fact, in 1915, which is the earliest record in the files of the agricultural commissioner's office, the acreage was shown as approximately 12,000 bearing and slightly under 2,000 non-bearing, with a production slightly exceeding the production of 1936.

"By 1925 our records show 13,727 acres in bearing and 524 acres non-bearing. The production that year was extremely low for the acreage, the total shown by the annual crop report being only slightly over 4,000,000 pounds, although the income was almost $1,000,000. From 1926 to the present date there has been a steady decrease in bearing acreage.

Production Figures

"Production has been quite variable, ranging from slightly less than 900 pounds per acre in 1930 to approximately one ton per acre in 1927 and 1932, with the maximum per acre production occurring in 1935 during which season the county average was slightly under 2300 pounds. In 1925 and 1927 gross incomes were between three and a half and four million dollars.

"In 1929 the income was approximately two and half million dollars. Since that date the receipts have been below the million dollar mark in 1931 and 1936 and from one to one and three-quarter million during the remaining years. The 1936 production of 7,333,100 pounds from 6,415 acres will return $880,785.

"Three factors have contributed largely to the reduction of walnut acreage in this area.

Competition Keen

"1. Extensive plantings in other parts of the state have increased the total supply to the point where the law of diminishing returns has had its effect.

"2. Much of Orange county's early plantings were of the lesser improved varieties, being largely hardshell seedlings which could not compete in quality with newer plantings here and elsewhere.

"3. In many cases the original walnut plantings were on very good soil and in locations which were highly favorable to the production of citrus, which crop during the early part of the last decade was showing a greater return per acre than walnuts.

"Thus, our walnut industry has been reduced to approximately half its size during the preceding decade.

Higher Quality

"During recent years walnut care has been directed toward the production of good quality walnuts. State standardization requirements, and still more exacting requirements of the industry itself in grading walnuts, have been the result of consumer demand for high quality.

"Some 25 years ago the coding moth began to show a distinct preference for the walnut as a host. The infestation has spread and increased to the extent that annual treatment is generally considered to repay the grower financially. It is interesting to note that in 1930 less than 30 per cent of the groves were treated for coding moth, whereas during 1933-4-5-6 from 73 per cent to 81 per cent were treated for this pest with the maximum percentage during the last year. Other treatment for blight, aphids and care in harvesting methods have greatly improved the quality of walnuts being offered to the consumer."

FULLERTON IS PLAY WINNER

Fullerton Union High school's young actors and actresses will represent Orange county at a Southern play tournament in Pasadena in April.

The Fullerton group won the Orange county high school play tournament, held here yesterday, and also the right to represent the county at the Southern California event in April.

Fullerton presented "The Clod" by Lewis Beach. The play was directed by Miss Dorothy Newton. The part of Mary Trask was taken by Emily Oas, and Thaddeus Trask by William Wickett. Other roles were: Northern Private, Lawrence Sike; Southern Sergeant, Stanley Johnson; and Southern Private, Robert Pratt.

Miss Oas also was adjudged the best girl actor in the contest. James Gilmore, in the Huntington Beach entry, "Three's a Crowd," directed by Miss Edna Dean Condon, was adjudged the best male actor.

Santa Ana's play was "Clipped," directed by John Swarthout. Tustin's play, directed by May Rose Borum, was "Hycinth."

Junior Roosevelt Will Study Law

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., said here today after a conference with Acting Dean George B. Eager, Jr., he intends to enter the University of Virginia law school next fall.

Morris Factor today was granted probation by Superior Judge Allen on an auto theft charge. Factor said he took the car, owned by a friend, after he had had several drinks.

START FRUIT SHIPMENTS FRIDAY

Movement of citrus fruit under state approval will be resumed at noon Friday, it was announced today by S. S. Rogers, chief of the bureau of fruit and vegetable standardization of the state department of agriculture.

The date was agreed upon Tuesday at a meeting of agricultural commissioners, attended by D. W. Tubbs of Orange county.

Certification of citrus fruit was discontinued immediately after the January freeze. It is now believed that the extent of frost damage can be detected with sufficient accuracy to justify certification, Rogers said.

"Truck loads of citrus fruits will be certified only when the load can be sealed, or under certain other conditions, designed to prevent substitution of loads," he said.

"No certificates will be issued on fruit stacked on the floor prior to actual loading, nor will a certificate be issued unless the inspector is present during the Red Cross process of sealing and until the load has been sealed.

"Unsealed loads of citrus fruits will be inspected at the highway inspection stations. Sealed loads will not be reinspected at these stations if they conform in all respects with the certificates accompanying them."

$13,317 IS FLOOD DONATION

That a total of $17,317.75 in flood relief contributions has been received to date by the four Red Cross chapters in the county was reported to the Orange County Council of the Anaheim, Fullerton, Orange and Santa Ana chapters at a meeting yesterday in Anaheim, with Alfred Higgins of Orange, council chairman, presiding.

Santa Ana chapter reported its present total as $10,634.73; Orange, $1783.23; Anaheim, $2124.51, and Fullerton, $2775.28.

A summary of annual reports made recently at chapter meetings was given by Mrs. Laura R. Warren, executive secretary of the county council, showing present county membership to be 5488, a gain of 1703 members. Chapter memberships are Anaheim, 651; Fullerton, 911; Orange, 854, and Santa Ana, showing gains, respectively, of 60, 60, 60 and 30 per cent, and 40 per cent.

Junior Red Cross membership in the county totals 4,749, it was reported, with Anaheim and Santa Ana High schools and all elementary schools in those two cities enrolled 100 per cent.

Pope Is Walking With Crutches

VATICAN CITY. (AP)—Pope Pius XI supported his ailing legs with crutches today as he gingerly tested his ability to walk.

Attendants assisted the pontiff in walking about the papal apartments on the new crutches which he hopes will extend his radius of activity.

Seaplane Turns Over; One Hurt

SAN PEDRO. (AP)—Naval authorities received a report today that a navy seaplane turned over at Catalina island and two men in it were believed to have been at least injured.

The plane was believed to have been one of those engaged in naval maneuvers off San Clemente island this week.

"Oh, boy! We met the whole darn royal family!" Mrs. Fuller still was so excited she couldn't remember what Queen Mother Mary said to her Wednesday at the cutlery section of the British Industries fair in Olympia.

tragedy to strike a United States warship in the San Clemente island drill grounds, 60 miles from here, in seven months, and the fifth accidental explosion aboard a battleship of the Pacific battle force in the past year. Army, navy and marine forces took part in the landing exercises.

The dead, all except one of whom were privates:

Capt. Edward J. Trumble, Alexandria, Va.
John Bauer, Cincinnati, O.
Albert Enos, Cambridge, Mass.
Joseph W. Bozynski, Pittsburgh, Pa.
Richard Frye, Johnstown, Pa.
Clynton L. Walker, Boykin, N. C.
Sydney Emsley, Atlantic City, N. J.

The injured, all privates:

William K. Webster, Benedict court, Grover, N. C., right arm amputated at shoulder.
Richard P. Brooks, Mt. Gilead, O., burns on face and eyes.
David R. Williams, Burgen, N. C., lacerated spine and multiple lacerations of the face.

Clyde A. Byrd, East Falls Church, Va., wounded abdomen and compound fracture of the left arm.

Norman J. Schleut, Chicago, lacerated forehead.

William H. Lentz, Jr., Brooklyn, N. Y., lacerated face.

Ernest M. Mamanus, Monroe, N. C., cuts on arm and bruises.

Put into Port

Immediately after the accident the Wyoming put into port here and transferred the dead and injured to the hospital ship Relief. Four of the dead were killed in the blast and two lived for but a few minutes.

Seven months ago two men were killed and nine injured aboard the U. S. S. Marblehead when the breech lock of a forward six-inch gun blew out. The worst disaster on the Pacific coast came 13 years ago near San Clemente island aboard the U. S. S. Mississippi. Almost two tons of TNT exploded in a gun turret, killing three officers and 45 enlisted men.

Completely isolated from the waterfront, the Wyoming rode at anchor behind the breakwater today. All shore leave for her crew and the 1000 marines aboard was cancelled last night.

Newsmen Barred

Surgeons on the hospital ship Relief toiled for hours, performing amputations, removing splinters of steel and iron from lacerated heads and bodies and setting broken bones. A Catholic chaplain, the Rev. P. W. Neuhoff, was summoned from U. S. Colorado by the Relief's office to administer last rites to one or more of the injured.

Identity of those nearest death was not made known and newsmen were denied permission to board the Wyoming or the Relief. The tragedy was a ghastly climax to four days of mimic warfare by land, sea and air with San Clemente, a bleak island 60 miles off the coast, as the prize. The maneuvers were conceived as a test of American military skill in conducting and repelling landing operations.

Denied Probation, Sent to Preston

Denied probation on a grand theft charge, Julio E. Esquivel today was sentenced to two years in the Preston School of Industry at Ione. Superior Judge James L. Allen provided that Esquivel is to start his term March 5.

American Pair Chat With Royalty at London Fair

LONDON. (AP)—Fred E. Fuller, American businessman from Flatbush, Brooklyn, hugged his wife in a London hotel room today and exclaimed proudly:

"Oh, boy! We met the whole darn royal family!" Mrs. Fuller still was so excited she couldn't remember what Queen Mother Mary said to her Wednesday at the cutlery section of the British Industries fair in Olympia.

"We were just standing there when the queen mother walked over and held out her hand to my wife," related Fuller, who is president of a Manhattan cutlery works.

"They exchanged a few words and then the queen turned to me and said: 'How's business in the United States?'"

About that time, the American continued, King George and Queen Elizabeth strolled over and a little later the Duke and Duchess of Kent and the Princess Royal Mary, Countess of Harewood, joined the group.

Queen Elizabeth repeated her mother-in-law's query about business conditions in the United States and Fuller said he replied, "We need lower tariffs."

"See Runciman (Walter Runciman, president of the British Board of Trade)," Queen Elizabeth countered quickly, the American said.

The Duke of Kent entered the conversation by "cornering me and discussing business matters," Fuller declared, "while the princess royal talked with Mrs. Fuller—who can't remember a thing she said."

BRITISH RUSH INTO PLANS FOR WAR

LONDON. (AP)—Great Britain's munitions and war equipment factories were thrown into high gear today for production of shells, guns and aircraft in the nation's undisguised fear of "the next war."

Spurred by the favorable parliamentary vote on the resolution authorizing a two billion dollar government "war loan in peace," the country forged ahead on its $7,500,000,000 rearmament program.

Observers of the bitter two-day debate in the house of commons, over the unprecedented peacetime preparations for conflict, were impressed by the way in which government leaders, especially in the conservative ranks, spoke of "the next war," rather than "the possibility of war."

Labor Leader Clement Atlee, in his attack on the program, challenged Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin to cite "any arms race that has not ended in war," and Sir Stafford Cripps, bitterly termed the war loan "the most magnificent subscription to a world suicide pact yet made public."

In the midst of the stormy session before the government rallied its supporters and forced through the resolution, opposition leaders charged the government with adding to the "certainty" of war through its plan.

Freedom to Cost Defendant $25

Twenty-five dollars—and freedom! Edgar Lovaille can't buy his way out of jail; but if he repays $25 to a local restaurant, he will be released on probation. Superior Judge James L. Allen ruled today.

The money was secured from the restaurant on a forged check which Lovaille said he passed to get a car he needed for work. He faces a four months' term in jail—unless he pays the $25.

F. D. R. Says U. S. In Need of Steel

WASHINGTON. (AP)—President Roosevelt said today the government would be forced to act soon to obtain steel needed in construction of naval vessels.

The steel industry has failed to bid on a large part of orders placed by the navy. Naval officers have attributed this to operation of the Walsh-Healey act which sets up wage and hour standards for government contractors.

BREAD CAST UPON THE ROAD

Loaves Vanish Hundredfold

The Biblical business of casting bread on the waters was varied a bit today.

A large bakery truck, a telephone pole, and a diminutive automobile combined this morning to cast bread upon the highway at Seventeenth street and Harbor boulevard. Yea, and it returned a hundredfold to the Mexicans living thereby.

California Highway Patrol Officer Horace Inge arrived on the scene shortly after the collision.

SOVIETS' NO. 2 LEADER DEAD

MOSCOW. (AP)—The death of Gregory K. Orjonikidze, the Soviet Union's No. 2 strong man, struck a severe blow today to the industrial renaissance he fostered.

Second in power only to Joseph Stalin, Orjonikidze once was regarded as his political heir or at least the prospective head of a group that would control the Soviets in event of Stalin's death.

Orjonikidze, 50, held the Soviets' most important non-political post as commissar of heavy industries, was a member of the politbureau, an all-important group of 10 men within the Communist party who rule Russia, and was chairman of the supreme council of national economy.

He died yesterday in his Kremlin apartment of a heart attack.

DR. RULEY IS TALK WINNER

Dr. C. J. Ruley was voted the best speaker on last night's program of the El Camino chapter of the Toastmasters club. He spoke on "Dreams." Runner-up was Ted McBird, of Orange, who talked on Washington.

Others on the program were Phillip Hood, Robert Hockaday, Ted Blanding and Braden Finch. Dale Griggs was toastmaster. Next session of the chapter will be held jointly with the Orange club in Orange Thursday.

DUST CLOUDS IN OKLAHOMA LIFT

GUYMON, Okla. (AP)—Dust storms lifted over the drought-plagued Oklahoma panhandle today and light rains settled the blowing top soil in most of Texas, but a new "black blizzard" threatened.

For the first time in six days residents here could see far down Main street. Only a light haze to remind them of yesterday's light obliterating dust.

An ominous black ball hung to the north, however, indicating that another "black blizzard" was sweeping in.

Only a few Texas cities reported dust showers extended from the eastern border to San Angelo and southward to the Rio Grande.

PLAN CITRUS SCHOOL FOR MARCH 9

Latest Information On Frost Situation To Be Made Public

Two citrus institutes are scheduled for growers in Orange county and Southern California in the near future, according to announcement from the farm advisors' office.

The annual Orange county citrus institute is set for March 9, and the San Bernardino citrus institute in connection with the Orange show is announced for Feb. 23. The latter will be held at the Elks club in San Bernardino, beginning at 10 a. m. The program will include talks on water supplies, pruning and marketing.

The Orange county institute will bring to local growers the latest information on the Valencia frost situation from the standpoint of the orchard and tree management, and the marketing problem.

The economics of orchard heating for Orange county conditions also will be presented. The day's program will include prominent speakers from the marketing associations, experiment station and the university, according to Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg.

These institutes are held under the auspices of the agricultural extension service and the farm bureau citrus departments.

HITLER SEEKS POWER WITH U-BOATS

New Submarines Float About Kiel Harbor In Maneuvers

BERLIN. (AP)—Trim U-boats with the Nazi swastika fluttering from their flag masts knife the waters of Kiel harbor these days as Adolf Hitler's third reich develops an arm of naval warfare that wrought maritime terror in the World war.

But if the protocol for humanization of submarine warfare—joined by Germany, the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan—holds force the wartime use of submarines will be shorn of most of its horror.

Pacts Required

The pact, signed by the powers last November, would require submarines to conduct passengers, crews and ships' papers to places of safety before sinking merchant ships.

Even so, Kiel's Baltic waters boil white in the wake of Germany's practice maneuvering of newborn U-boats.

Germany has 28 of them in the water and eight under construction as she pushes toward the level of naval power permitted by the Anglo-German treaty of 1935—a 35 per cent ratio to the British strength.

Present Boats Small

The boats of the Weddigen flotilla at Kiel are smaller than their old-time cousins, the U-9's. They are of 250 tons, smaller than the submarines of other sea powers, but completely seaworthy, afloat or when the narrow rods of their periscopes alone are slitting the surface.

Each carries a crew of 23, including a commander and three officers, a chief engineer and the officer on duty.

Amateur Night To Be Broadcast

Another parade of amateurs and semi-professionals will go by the microphone tonight between 8 and 8:30 during O. R. Haan's "Opportunity Night" show to be broadcast by direct wire from the stage of Walker's theater.

With cash prizes for the best of them and with special awards for the rest of them, these eight acts will be judged by the theater audience. Listeners to the broadcast will have an opportunity to express their approval or disapproval of decisions by telephone or by mail.

Another 'Sit-Down' Striker Finally Gives Up

Robert Harmon's "sit-down" strike, to win a theater bank night prize at San Jose, was a bit out of the ordinary. Harmon, charging the bank night was a "fake," said he was prepared to stay in the theater until the middle of March. Harmon, a salesman, is shown here after spending four days in the theater. He had seen the same program three times. But after remaining approximately in this position for 100 hours, he quit when he was offered a job in a San Francisco burlesque show. I COVER THE CAPITOL

By SENATOR HARRY C. WESTOVER

The following is one of a series of weekly articles written by Orange county's senator, Harry C. Westover, covering activities of the state legislature at Sacramento. Opinions and comment expressed in this column are not necessarily those of The Journal.—Editor's note.

Oil! Oil! Oil!

Oil in Sacramento and the legislature means the Huntington Beach oil pool. Talk about pouring oil upon the troubled water. Oil also causes fire, and if you wish to "fire up" the state legislature, mention oil.

For some years the legislature and the people of the state have been trying to work out a solution of the Huntington Beach oil situation. During the 1935 session of the legislature, an interim committee was appointed to study this question. The chairman was Senator Olson of Los Angeles.

The committee was supposed to make its report to the senate at the beginning of the 1937 session of the legislature. The chairman of the committee prepared a report. The other members of the committee failed to sign the report and Senator Olson filed his report at the January session of the legislature, not as the report of the chairman of the committee. Fifteen hundred copies of the report were ordered printed and may be had by writing to the bill file clerk at Sacramento.

Presume State Owner

In all legislation and litigation had up to the present time, over the Huntington Beach oil pool, it has been presumed that the state is the owner of the pool lying under the ocean. Very few are willing to concede that Orange county or Huntington Beach have any claim to the pool. In fact only three members of the legislature—Assemblyman Keith, Assemblyman Wright and the writer, even contend that Orange county and the city of Huntington Beach have a claim to the oil pool.

One of the most troublesome questions to determine is the line marking the division between public property and private property. Private property extends down to the high-tide mark. The writer introduced senate bill No. 646, in the January session of the legislature, calling upon the division of finance to make a survey of the coast line from Santa Barbara to the Mexican border, for the purpose of officially determining this line.

The land now occupied by the city of Huntington Beach was originally a part of a Spanish grant. By various transfers, it was finally acquired by the Huntington company. The Huntington company laid out a townsite, calling it Huntington Beach and built an electric railroad from Long Beach to the new townsite. A strip along the ocean and other land were dedicated for public use. Between the electric railway and the ocean is a small strip of land approximately 150 feet in width. This strip of land and that occupied by the electric railroad are owned jointly by the Huntington Beach company and the Pacific Electric Land company. The Standard Oil company is the major stockholder of the Huntington Beach company.

Slant Drilling

In December, 1925, the Standard Oil company completed a well less than 500 feet from the ocean. Beginning in 1930 and 1931, several redrilling and deepening jobs occurred which indicated better production toward the ocean. In 1933 commenced the drilling of slant wells from the uplands for the purpose of tapping the oil pool under the ocean.

After it had been determined that wells from the uplands (town lot section of Huntington Beach) were draining the oil pool under the ocean, actions were commenced by the state of California to prohibit such drillings and to collect royalties. Settlements were made by the state on some 80 wells which had drilled into the oil pool upon an average basis of a royalty of 10 per cent. However, no settlement has ever been made upon some other 70 wells drilled into the oil pool, a great many of which are owned by the Standard Oil company and which include the wells drilled upon the strip between the Electric Railway company right-of-way and the ocean. The Standard Oil company wishes to make a settlement similar to the settlements made with the independent operators drilling from the town lot section of Huntington Beach, but as yet no agreement has been reached.

Olson Report

According to Senator Olson's report, Standard Oil wells, Nos. 1, 3, 6, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12 and 14 on the Pacific Electric strip are conclusively shown to enter into the state lands and are drawing oil from the state pool. The admitted production of Standard Oil company well No. 1, from April 1, 1930 to October 31, 1936, is 1,319,421 barrels of oil, and from Standard oil company well No. 2 for the same period, 1,916,358 barrels of oil. The total value of oil and gas taken from state lands, according to the Olson report, by wells drilling from the uplands, is better than $7,000,000.00. These wells, or at least most of them, are continuing to produce oil and gas.

The so-called leases or agreements made by the state through the director of finance, to allow future production from the wells drilled from the upland into the state pool are questioned. The department of finance was authorized to make settlement for the oil and gas produced, but no statute gives the department of finance the right to make agreements for "future production."

Valuable Property

The strip of land between the Pacific Electric right-of-way and the ocean, now held by the Standard Oil company, is probably one of the most valuable strips of land in the country today. The Standard Oil company has the right to prohibit anyone from drilling through it. Even though the state should authorize drilling into the pool from the uplands, the Standard Oil company sits at the door and can prohibit anyone from entering. In a case now being tried in Orange county superior court, the Standard Oil company is asking among other things for a restraining order to prohibit certain defendants from going through the strip of land.

It is impossible to give in these few paragraphs a complete picture of the Huntington Beach oil situation. However, we have commented upon some of the most important phases, and one can realize that with so many important and technical questions to decide, it is

Modulations From KVOE

Things are happening fast, furiously and mysteriously for Cecil and Sally. Haunted house, locked doors, weird people and finally the discovery of Mr. Butterworth's body, knifed in the back. More developments will be revealed tonight at 8:15 on KVOE. Cecil and Sally and Eb and Zeb fans are advised to watch for an announcement of a definite time for these features to be scheduled regularly throughout the week. This announcement will be made within two or three days.

EPIC HEROES

Stories of "Epic Heroes," amazing tales of the adventures of characters in Greek mythology, such as thrilled mother and dad when they were youngsters, will be continued by Stuart Wilson, "The Story Teller," in his broadcast from KVOE this evening at 5 o'clock.

CARTOON MAN

He does more than teach his youthful listeners the fundamentals of drawing. Listen to Tony D'Orazi, "The Cartoon Man," and you will catch the refreshing viewpoint of a young man who not only loves art but also is interested in giving his audience something of a moral "lift." Listeners, young and old, may join "the largest art class in the world" by dialing KVOE this evening at 5:15.

FOUR GENTLEMEN

The richly harmonious voices of "Four Gentlemen from the Southland" will be heard in a group of six songs during their program on KVOE at 6:30 tonight.

LADY WILKINS MAY EXPLORE WITH MATE

NEW YORK. (AP)—Lady Suzanne Wilkins, who sees her explorer husband, Sir Hubert Wilkins, every year or so, may go along with him next year when he sets out to rove the Arctic seas in a submarine, looking for mythical Croker land.

"If we had been able to leave this summer, as we first planned, she certainly would have come along," the British explorer said on arrival here for a five-weeks' stay. He dashed over to see Lady Wilkins, who meanwhile had gotten herself a job singing in a local night club, to get valuable papers, talk to brother scientists, and to see how work is getting along on some of the instruments for his submarine, now under construction in England.

Sir Hubert, a smiling man with a goatee turning gray, expects to sail with a crew of seven from Spitzbergen in June of next year, and cover several thousand miles under Arctic ice floes.

His objectives are to find Croker Land, which Admiral Peary thought he saw south of the North Pole and northeast of Ellesmere land; to prove if possible the feasibility of the northeast passage explorers have sought for centuries; to make a continuous record, both written and pictorial, of animal life in the Arctic ocean; to sound water depths, make meteorological and gravitational measurements.

Miami Races on KVOE Tomorrow

The running of the famous McKenon Memorial Handicap, top-ranking event of the winter racing season at Hialeah Park, Miami, Fla., will be dramatically described by Bryan Field in the sixth, to be broadcast, to be offered over the nationwide network of the Mutual Broadcasting system, to be released by KVOE tomorrow afternoon from 12:30 until 1:30.

American Politics Is Forum Topic

How American politics appear to Americans and how the same politics impress an Englishman will be told during the weekly International House Forum to be broadcast from KVOE and other stations in the nationwide network of the Mutual Broadcasting system tomorrow from 11:30 to 12.

French criminals ranging from murderers to pickpockets and numbering more than a thousand are now hiding in Great Britain, according to Scotland Yard, and among them are 43 known to have escaped from Devil's Island, the French penal settlement.

Lowell Statement on Child Labor Called 'Gibberish'

BOSTON. (AP)—Robert J. Watt, secretary treasurer of the Massachusetts Federation of Labor this week called "gibberish" a statement by President Emeritus A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard on the subject of child labor.

Hisses broke out in the crowded state house auditorium as Watt made his comment at a legislative committee hearing considering the federation's bill for the ratification of the federal child labor amendment.

The committee chairman, Sen. John D. McKay (R.) asked, "you don't mean to characterize the utterings of that distinguished scholar as gibberish?"

For answer Watt quoted from Lowell's predecessor at Harvard, the late Pres. Charles W. Eliot, who in 1924, declared he was "surprised at the illogical character of the amendment set up by intelligent persons against the child labor amendment."

Watt asserted: "The best way to develop and breed isms, whether Communism or Fascism, is to deprive the great mass of workers of an opportunity to live. We must take children out of industry."

On Jan. 13, Dr. Lowell assailed the proposed amendment as a grant of power "to interfere with the home" and "to regulate the life of youth up to 18 years of age to a practically indefinite extent."

On the other hand, save for some employers, there is no one who objects to regulating or forbidding child labor in factories, mines and shops.

CHEAP WORLD TOUR ENDS

JANUARY JOB TOTAL HAS INCREASE

Figures for State Are Encouraging, Says Labor Bulletin

By WALTER WARREN
SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—California industrial employment kept well above 1936 figures in the first month of 1937, though restricted by the indirect effects of the maritime strike.

The state's factories thus kept to the improvement trend that has been definite and relatively constant since May 1933.

The California Labor Market Bulletin, issued by Edward L. Nolan, state labor commissioner, showed these significant changes for industrial employment in January compared with a year ago:

Three Changes
Employees in 1642 factories covered by questionnaire—143,370. This was an increase of 9.3 per cent over employment in the same plants a year ago.

Weekly payroll—$3,917,253. This was an increase of 18.5 per cent. Average weekly earnings per worker—$27.32. The pay was up 8.4 per cent.

Trends by industries:

Industry Trends
Metal works—Employment up 19.1 per cent, payrolls up 30.6 per cent, wages up 9.6 per cent on weekly earnings basis.
Transportation equipment—Employment up 23.2 per cent, payrolls up 31.1 per cent, wages up 6.4 per cent.

Lumber—Employment up 5.1 per cent, payrolls up 15.1 per cent, wages up 9.5 per cent.

Stone-clay-glass works—Employment up 15.2 per cent, payrolls up 26.8 per cent, wages up 10.1 per cent.

Textiles—Gains in employment 3 per cent, payrolls 6.6, wages 5.4.

Other Industries
Tire and rubber plants—Gains, employment 35.4, payrolls 47.6, wages 9.1.

Food products—Employment down less than 1 per cent, payrolls up 10.3, wages up 11.3.
Petroleum-chemicals—Employment up 1.4 per cent, payrolls 6.6, wages 5.1.

Motion pictures—Employment down 8.2 per cent, payrolls up 4.3, wages up 13.6.
Paper-printing—Gains, employment 7.5, payrolls 11.6, wages 5.7.

Laundries—Gains, employment 7.3, payrolls 11.9, wages 4.3.

U. S.-Bermuda Air Service to Open

NEW YORK. (AP)—Scheduled flights between the United States and Bermuda, the first leg of what eventually will become transport airplane service from this country to Europe, probably will begin within 30 days, Pan-American Airways announced.

Charleston, S. C., and Baltimore, Md., have been designated "alternate ports" of entry, with a third port at Philadelphia, Newark, New York or in New England to be chosen later.

Three ports were decided upon to provide pilots of the big, four-engine flying boats to be used in the service adequate leeway in the event of bad weather or other emergency.

London Battles $500,000 Blaze

LONDON. (AP)—One of the worst fires in London in many years destroyed two factories yesterday, causing damage estimated by fire inspectors at $500,000. More than 250 firemen and 50 pieces of equipment were summoned to fight the blaze, whose cause was not determined.

The flames spread to tenements adjoining the factories.

'Take' in Rackets Reported Huge

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Detective Roy Blick estimated today that numbers racketeers have collected nearly $600,000 a year in the capital.

His statement followed a police raid on what Blick described as headquarters of the racket. Officers, he said, found $1971 in pennies, nickels, dimes and quarters. Three men were arrested.

Government Is Predicting Inevitable Labor Shortage With Increase in Business

(Editor's Note: Previously undiscovered facts about America's army of job hunters have been turned up in a survey by the U. S. employment service. This is last of a series of three stories by the Washington staff of the Associated Press on new highlights of the survey.)

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The U. S. employment service analyzed its list of 6,500,000 job seekers today and predicted "labor shortages will inevitably occur."

The survey showed one out of every five persons on the list had no recent experience fitting him for a specific occupation. "During periods of depression," the report said, "the abundance of qualified, experienced workers in all skilled trades and occupations serves to discourage the training of new workers to replace the normal losses in any occupation."

First in Skilled Labor
"Business may pick up to only 75 or 80 per cent of its former volume of employment before encountering evidences of labor shortage in certain trades," the report added. These shortages show up first in the more highly skilled occupations in scattered local areas and gradually spread as unemployment declines.

The service suggested its survey data on location, age, sex and experience of the unemployed might be the basis for vocational education programs. Some knowledge of the industries absorbing workmen already is available. Out of 8,954,150 placements made by the service in two years, 4,864,826 were non-relief jobs. These figures show jobs, not persons placed, because in the case of temporary employment, one man may have been

Plan $3,000,000 'Aviation City'

NEW YORK. (AP)—Plans for establishment of a $3,000,000 "aviation city" at Teterboro, N. J., were announced by Vincent Bendix, aviation parts manufacturer and trophy donor.

"The land," said the announcement, "will be used for early construction of a new aeronautical factory, an engineering and laboratory building, an administration and general office building, and one of the largest foundries in this part of the country for the making of alloy metal."

AXE THREATS BRING FUNDS TO LIGHT

BERLIN. (AP)—Col. General Hermann Goering's threat to use the headman's axe has brought back to Germany an estimated $100,000,000 (250,000,000 marks) which had been hidden abroad from Nazi authorities.

Theoretically many Germans escaped having their heads cut off by confessing their sins before Jan. 31, the deadline set by the generalissimo of the Nazi four-year plan for bringing back home money kept abroad.

All citizens who still have money abroad are subject to a decree which General Goering had the cabinet approve in December. It provides that "whoever knowingly and unscrupulously, out of sheer selfishness or other base motives, transfers its wealth to foreign lands or lets it remain there, and thus damages German economy" is subject to special trial, at which the maximum penalty is death.

WOMEN'S SPY RING AIDS MADRID

GIBRALTAR. (AP)—A ring of women spies—one of whom died before a firing squad as she cried, "Viva la republica!"—was held partly responsible today by Spanish insurgents for Gen. Francisco Franco's failure to smash Madrid's defenses.

The ring's center, reports reaching here said, seemed to be a Grison, 18 miles southwest of Madrid, where a large base hospital was made the main theater for the women's work.

Several of the feminine spies were said to have been captured there—caught in the act of questioning soldiers whom ostensibly they had come to comfort and cheer.

Main items of information the women were said to have sought were the number of troops along the front lines, where they were concentrated and the positions of artillery batteries.

At least one of the women spies was reported to have been shot by an executioner's squad in a small village near the capital.

TOWN HOLDS FREEZE DERBY Riches for Thaw's Guesser

TWISP, Wash. (AP)—Citizens of Twisp looked at seven blocks of frozen water mains and backed their judgment with dollars today in the second annual ice derby.

An electrical device fastened on a frozen fire hydrant on Fifth avenue will record the minute a trickle of water travels through the pipe. To reach this hydrant, the water pumps must force the stream through all seven frozen blocks of frozen mains.

The ice derby entrants attempt to guess the exact day and hour of thaw, just as Alaskans annually try to guess the minute the ice jam in the Yukon river will break each spring.

Each also contributed a dollar to a fund which is divided among derby winners. The town clerk is referee and stake holder. Last year, water trickled through the tell-tale hydrant at 12:11 a. m. April 20, and brought the first derby to a close.

Boy Without Esophagus Eats As Heartily as Others

MARLBORO, N. Y. (AP)—Little Robert Earl Linsig, 2 years old, is happy, sturdy and mischievous, yet he has never eaten a "regular" meal.

Born without an esophagus, he is fed through a tube.

Dr. J. J. Donovan, Newburgh, surgeon, and Dr. W. E. Harris, Marlboro, the family physician, performed an operation shortly after his birth, permitting him to take nourishment through an opening in the left side, leading to the stomach. Already his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Linsig, are making plans for the operation which they hope will permit him to eat normally before he arrives at school age.

His "appetite," said Bobby's mother, "is as prodigious as any 2-year-old's should be."

His father, proprietor of a Marlboro store, and his mother, a newspaper writer, encouraged by the reports of Dr. Harris, feel no hesitation in predicting that he will emerge triumphantly from the prospective operation to give him an artificial esophagus so he can swallow, like anyone else.

The average male star is 5 feet 10½ inches tall and tips the scale at 169, while the average movie heroine is 8 inches less over all and scales 111.

MUSIC FROM OLD WORLD ON KVOE

Broekman Will Interpret Continental Tunes at 7 Tonight

Born on the European continent, receiving his basic music training in the great conservatories of her capital cities before he sought and found his musical fortune in the United States, certainly there are few men more ideally equipped to interpret the contemporary music of the old world than David Broekman.

Appropriate it is, therefore, that the Broekman bator should be the all-important factor in the new "Music of the Continent" program which will be inaugurated on KVOE and other stations of the Mutual-Don Lee Broadcasting system from 7 to 7:30 tonight.

Among the orchestra numbers selected by Maestro Broekman are a "Chevalier Medley" of "Louise" and "Valentine;" excerpts from Franz Lehár's "Paganini;" "A Media Luz" and "España Cani." Margit Hegedus and her violin will be heard in the solo role of the "Paganini" presentation.

Especially interesting is that the unique tango arrangement of "A Media Luz" is the work of Sidney Cutner, himself a music student in Vienna for several years.

As for "España Cani," Broekman briefly but eloquently describes this as "a rather insistent bolero."

SPECIAL 'DX' BROADCAST ON KVOE

KVOE will go on the air for a nationwide and international broadcast from midnight tonight to 1 a. m.

KVOE's power is 100 watts and its primary coverage is that of Orange county, Long Beach, Whittier and parts of east Los Angeles county. But it has been heard in many eastern and midwestern states, in Canada, Mexico and as far away as New Zealand, not once but many times.

These receptions of KVOE were made during regular broadcasting hours and on "DX" programs, those scheduled especially for the "DX-er," a peculiar individual.

The "DX-er" is usually affected by an acute case of voluntary insomnia. In order that he may lengthen his list of radio stations heard and verified, he must stay by his radio far, far into the night, listening to whispers, squeals and what have you and using, at times, considerable imagination. However, those stations which "play fair" will only verify reception of their programs when furnished with unquestionable proof, consisting of an item that could have originated only at the station in question. This is the policy at KVOE.

Tomorrow morning's DX broadcast will be the first since KVOE moved to its new location and installed its new and modern vertical antenna and elaborate ground system. The broadcast will be made in cooperation with the DX magazine "Radex" which is offering a list of valuable prizes to listeners for the best reports.

So tomorrow morning's broadcast will be especially for listeners at least 500 to a thousand miles away, one of the rare occasions KVOE caters to an audience outside of its own in Orange county.

TREE PURCHASE ICKES' PLAN

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Secretary Ickes announced he had recommended to President Roosevelt immediate allocation of $2,000,000 to purchase "the finest remaining stand of sugar pines in the world" for inclusion within the boundaries of Yosemite National park in California.

Seeking to obtain the trees by outright purchase after a long and unsuccessful effort to legislate them into the park through an exchange of lands, Ickes wrote Senator William Gibbs McAdoo he was "doing everything that I appropriately can" to save the trees from the logger's ax.

He said if the proposed $2,000,000 allocation is made, no appropriation by congress will be necessary.

SILVER DOLLAR DEMAND LOW

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The treasury is having trouble getting silver dollars into circulation. Secretary Morgenthau told the house appropriations committee, "we try to put out silver dollars—we put them out and pay the freight on them, and they come right back again."

A record of committee hearings made public showed Morgenthau said there was little demand for the "cart wheels" except from coin collectors and in the Rocky mountain states, where the miners carry them.

23 MILLIONS ON SECURITY LIST

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The social security board announced it has on file 23,647,461 employee applications for participation in the old age benefits program.

State totals included: California, 1,160,959. Estimates of applications in large cities (as of Jan. 15) included: Los Angeles, 535,000; San Francisco, 413,500; Seattle, 156,750; Portland, Ore., 120,500; Oakland, Calif., 72,911; Spokane, 43,771; San Diego, 30,800; and Sacramento, 20,439.

Roomer Accused of Murdering Baby

ONEONTA, N. Y. (AP)—Dist. Atty. Joseph Molinari said that Clyde Proctor, 27, had been booked on a second degree murder charge for "shaking to death" a 15-month-old child.

The prosecutor said that after two and one-half hours of questioning Proctor admitted "shaking" the baby after it had "biten" him. Proctor said the child's head "snapped" while he was shaking it and he dropped the baby on the floor, Molinari declared.

Widow of Cable Car Inventor Dies

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—Funeral services were held here today for Mrs. Martha E. Hallidie, widow of the man who invented the cable car. Mrs. Hallidie died at the age of 91.

Andrew S. Hallidie, who died in 1900, invented the cable car in 1871. Two years later the Clay Street Railroad company came into being here, and within a year cable cars had virtually wrought the extinction of horse cars. Two companies still operate cable cars here.

LAND VALUE INSURANCE SCORED

Many Bills in State Legislature Deal With Policies

(Editor's Note: This is the ninth of a series of articles on distinctive or unusual measures pending in the state legislature.)

SACRAMENTO, (AP)—Sixty nine bills, exclusive of amendments to the workmen's compensation act, have been introduced into the legislature seeking to amend California's insurance code.

While many of the bills concern technical amendments to the code there are several which their authors assert are designed primarily to protect and add to the rights of policyholders. One bill eliminates provisions in the code permitting the issuance of insurance on land values. This measure provides severe penalties for the sale of this type of insurance.

License Revocation
This bill was introduced as senate bill 453 by Senator Hays, Fresno. It eliminates land valuation as an insurance and provides a maximum penalty of 10 years and $10,000 for violations. The failure of firms, who had sold insurance guaranteeing the value of land, especially in the southern part of the state, was responsible for the introduction of the amendment insurance men said.

The bill would give the insurance commissioner the right to suspend or revoke the license of any person guilty of violation of the anti-land value insurance amendment.

According to provisions of A. B. 1281 by Assemblyman Voigt, which adds two sections to the code, a defendant company would not be permitted to deny that the property insured was worth at the time of the issuing of the policy the full amount of the insurance. It also would provide that in case of total loss the measure of damage would be the amount for which the property was insured.

Added Protection
Another provision would be that the insurance company would be required to restore the property to as good a condition as it was in before a fire.

Six bills submitted by Assemblyman Yorty, Los Angeles, would give added protection to policyholders. One would provide that the falsity of any statement in the application for life insurance would not bar the right to collection of the policy unless proof of actual intent to defraud was shown on the alleged false statement had a material effect of the acceptance of the risk.

Yorty's other measures would provide for an incontestable clause after a policy has been in force for two years; a requirement of notification when a policy is cancelled for failure to pay premiums; that every policy shall contain the entire contract involved; that if settlement is not made within four months and the defendant company loses a court action it shall be responsible for the plaintiff's attorney fees and that where any settlement made on a policy containing and incontestable clause is for less than the face value of the policy it would be presumed that the beneficiary accepted it without sufficient consideration and under undue influence.

Medical Service
Medical and hospitalization insurance measures will occupy a considerable portion of the time of the committees on public health and quarantine, insurance and hospitals and asylums. There have been bills introduced into both houses, which would provide for the establishment of medical service associations similar to the hospitalization insurance groups.

The medical bills would permit associations of surgeons and physicians to establish voluntary medical service plans, on a periodic payment basis. The associations would be required to provide guarantees of financial responsibility, in order that persons subscribing to the service would be assured of adequate medical treatment when needed.

Skeleton Bills
There also are proposals in the two houses to amend the hospitalization laws to provide this type of insurance for state employees. Several skeleton bills proposing amendments also have been introduced.

Authors of the hospitalization and medical bills are Senators McColl, McGovern and Williams and Assemblymen Cronin and Welsh.

Other insurance bills under consideration include:

S. B. 1045, Seawell, provides for examination of books and records of reciprocal and inter-exchange insurance companies.

S. B. 452, Hays, increases the authority of the insurance commissioner in the revocation and denial of licenses.

S. B. 906, Garrison, provides loans on policies without interest.

S. B. 1047, Seawell, makes a medical examination compulsory before a life policy can be issued.

Tells A. T. & T. Dip In Movie Business

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Francis A. Staten, federal communications commission accountant, testified Thursday the American Telephone & Telegraph company had tried to dominate the motion picture industry. The idea, he said, was to get exclusive rights for the sale and service of film equipment.

Staten testified at a commission hearing that the telephone company's film operations had been conducted through Electric Research Products, Inc., a subsidiary, frequently called E.R.P.

LIMITING OF AUTO POWER IS URGED

Safety Suggestion Is Made by U. S. Group
Following Survey

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A government committee advocated today limiting the engine power of automobiles "to protect the reckless motorist against his own folly."

The report, submitted to the accident prevention conference organized by the department of commerce, blamed high speed and poor lighting for a major part of 36,000 fatalities in a year.

"Road surface conditions play only a minor part," said Chairman Henry H. Heiman of New York. "Liquor Also Factor"

"In some sections liquor is a factor, but it is only fair to state that there is no evidence pointing to drunken driving being materially on the increase."

Cars are being driven at night in rural sections too fast for light conditions, the report said. While speeding up to 80 miles an hour is not uncommon, it declared, night driving under the very best conditions at over 50 miles an hour is unsafe.

Reasons for Speed
"The reason assigned for present high speed construction of cars," the committee said, "is that it enables drivers to extricate themselves from hazardous situations."

"The soundness of this can well be challenged when the report of accidents indicates that the very possession of this additional speed has a tendency to cause some drivers to attempt what might be called abnormally hazardous situations."

The committee said the automotive industry was working to solve the problem.

CURTIS GIFT TO BE REALIZED

PHILADELPHIA.—The plan of Cyrus H. K. Curtis, publisher, for the erection of a great auditorium as a gift to the people of Philadelphia, blocked by his death, is about to be carried out with the aid of his heirs.

With the auditorium in mind, Curtis purchased a large plot of ground on the parkway for $2,100,000. Mayor S. Davis Wilson announced that the Curtis Foundation would donate the site to the city and that Judge Curtis Bok, grandson of Curtis, has agreed to raise a substantial sum for the building by public subscription. The mayor said the city would contribute to the cost and that a grant would be asked from the Public Works administration. The entire cost would be about $5,000,000.

The ninth grade produced 30 honor students this semester, out of 67 who made the society and four who made the honor roll.

The ninth graders include Bruce Adkinson, Lucille Andrew, Ralph Barnes, Carol Jeanne Brinkerhoff, Marjorie Calhoun, Virginia Campbell, Ted Clucas, Helen Crawford, Lucille Crawford, Dorothy Frazer, Mary Katherine Friend, George Hart, Eleanor Hedley, Fern Hendricks, Irene Inman, Alice Jean Irvin, Alice Iverson, Mary Alice Laughlin, Marjorie Mize, Eileen Pickell, Genevieve Rees, Henry Gegerstrom, Evva Faye Smock, Josephine Stanley, Helen Tibbals, Hollis Tibbals, Clare West, Marjorie Metzgar, Betty Ellen Mitchell and Joe Mixer.

Those eligible for the honor roll are Edna Bechlund, Francis Geddes, Betty Jean McMillan and Eva Pimental.

Sallie Tiernan was hostess Feb. 12 to a group of friends at a dessert party in her home. In the games which followed refreshments prizes were won by Marjorie Calhoun, Joris Gold and Mary Jo Haskell.

Other guests included Betty Jo Froeschle, Eleanor Young, Marjorie Adkinson, Mary Toyoda, Mildred Lockett, Dorothy Raitt, Jane Downey, Virginia Steele, Lila Moore, Rosemary Blodgett, Kathleen Tiernan, sister of the hostess, Beatrice Gonzales and Constance Halsell.

Lucille Lambert was elected secretary at the first meeting of the home room representatives in room 211 on Feb. 17, with Carol Brinkerhoff presiding. The representatives were divided into squads to check lockers on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in P. E.

The representatives help maintain order in the auditorium and assist in keeping the grounds and buildings clean.

Representatives from the ninth grade are George Hart, Lucille Lambert, Mary Lou Mann, Lillian Breaux, Carol Miller, Carl Downs and Howard Walton.

The representatives from the eighth grade are Billy Meador, Douglas Byers, Lila Moore, Keith Jones, Clarence Harvey, Betty Banks, Frank Espuriz and Alex Oweda.

From the seventh they are Betty Platt, Betty Hawkins, Paul Vissman, Gene Smith, Barbara Senn, Fred Pope, Rita Laguna and Sedrone Geck.

In the library this week are displayed 12 beautiful posters of "stories that live forever," as chosen by the well known author, Christopher Morley. If you have not seen them you have missed something, for they are alive and glowing with something of the real charm that their authors have so realistically put into these well known stories.

The posters are in color and mounted on var-colored poster paper. They include illustrations from such stories as "Treasure Island," "Little Women," "Robinson Crusoe" and "Sherlock Holmes." After being on display in the library the posters will be sent in turn to each English teacher, so that all classes may have the pleasure of studying and enjoying them more leisurely.

The library is indebted to Mrs. Wright for this collection and it is with sincere appreciation that Mrs. Blee accepts these for the use of the library and the school.

Thirty-six HS students have chosen for their elective, a class in news writing, which meets daily during block 3, in room 212.

In order to take typing, a prerequisite for journalism II, these pupils have been excused from general science, music or art, in block 6. A beginner's typing class for journalism students only, is offered in block 2 by Mrs. Weeks.

At the end of the semester the students in this class will present their applications to the faculty advisor of the Echo, who will present them to a board of publications made up of Mr. Mitchell, Mrs. Lund, Mrs. M. L. Scott, Miss M. J. Steel and Mrs. Allen. The board will consider ability, grades, initiative, cooperation, spirit and citizenship in electing one person to fill each office. In the future the staff for the following year will be selected in the spring, Mrs. Allen announced.

Members of the class are Marguerite Baker, Jack Howard, Doris Jesses, Virginia Jordan, Ervin Kier, Pat Mercer, John Montanus, Natalie Nelson, Paul Patton, George Platt, Winslow Porteous, Joe Schmitz, Francis Smith, Virginia Steele, Sally Tiernan, Billy Thompson, Bob Truax, Bob Winterbourne, Mary Toyoda and Betty Jean McMillan.

The program given by the girls' glee club, under the direction of Miss Glancy, for McKinley school and the Odd Fellows recently, was presented at a Willard under division assembly Friday, Feb. 12.

COURT PLAN PLAYED BY COUGHLIN

CHICAGO, (AP)—The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, in a signed article published in his weekly review "Social Justice," charged President Roosevelt advocated altering the supreme court because "he wants to be a dictator."

"The whole supreme court issue," the article said, "is an issue between dictatorship and democracy."

Father Coughlin characterized as "sheer buncombe" claims that the court revision was needed to meet an emergency. It would be possible, he said, to "amend the constitution in three weeks if the new deal wished to approach the problem as it should be approached."

MASSACHUSETTS SENATE OBJECTS TO PLAN

BOSTON, (AP)—The Massachusetts senate yesterday adopted by a roll-call vote, 22 to 9, an order protesting to congress against President Roosevelt's plan for revision of the system of appointing judges to the supreme court. The order previously was passed by the Massachusetts house of representatives and in both houses the vote followed party lines.

COLORADO SENATE APPROVES OF PLAN

DENVER, (AP)—The Colorado state senate yesterday approved, 23 to 9, President Roosevelt's proposal to reorganize the federal judiciary. Three Democratic senators joined the entire Republican membership in opposing the resolution. The house adopted a similar resolution several days ago.

Brick Dust

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor
By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

CHIEF OF POLICE GEORGE FRANZEN, the largish person who bosses all the cops in Orange, is in a spot, but he doesn't know it, yet.

George, after this, had better treat The Press with utmost consideration and respect, or else I'll fix him, I will, I will.

Called on him the other day to take a picture. George adjusted himself carefully in his seat and we made a nice shot. Looked very human. But the photographer sneaked over another unprepared and unposed—ah, one might say "expose"—when George was looking like a tough guy who'd push little ducks in the water and put bumps on old ladies' heads. If he's not good, I'll put that picture in the paper!

Incidentally, V. G. "Skipper" Wolfe, one of the aforementioned Orange cops, has ideas regarding traffic control. (Nope, I don't know why they call him "Skipper" unless it's because he played hopscotch when a child.)

Anyway, Skipper watches school crossings during the noon hour. He virtually lurks. And if anyone lurks like he's driving too fast—that was a nasty one, wasn't it?—he writes down the license number. Later the driver gets a little notice, pointing out that maybe he was traveling a bit rapidly, but it won't happen again, will it?

Which should even have a severe case of lead-footedness!

We might as well finish up this discussion as to how one pronounces the hind name of Tommy Kuchel, youthful assemblyman from Anaheim. For a number of editions, Editor Art McBride from La Habra has been arguing with himself. He stuttered through a half-column last week, and I reprinted it.

Through some accident, a reader who signs him—or herself "Auntie B. K." and whom I strongly suspect being a well-known Fullerton newspaperman, stumbled across that editorial exposition. He, or she offers the following essay on proper treatment of the family name:

"For Art McBride's benefit, I can give you the story about how Tommy Kuchel's name got mispronounced. When the campaign (political) was on last fall, I went with Tommy to call on several hundred folks in this end of the county and they were nearly unanimous in calling him 'Kootchell'.

"It happened because when Tommy's father, Henry Kuchel, bought his first Linotype machine for the Anaheim Gazette about 40 or 50 years ago, it didn't have the 'u' in the keyboard—that is, a 'u' with a couple of dots over it. So the Kuchel family had to get along without the dots and have a plain 'u'.

As an old German language student with a good record, I can guarantee you pronounce it 'Kee-kul' with a soft 'k' in the second syllable and you have to squint your lips on the first syllable to take care of the lost 'u' sound. If you want to get the proper pronunciation, go over to The Gazette some day and have Ted do it for you."

I wish Tommy were running for election. I'd charge him for all that space!

That "Battle of Beauty" between Huntington Beach and Laguna is beginning to look serious, as Bill Gallienne and George Fort stand off and make faces at each other.

Now we have rumors that other cities want to enter their girls in the beauty contest, to see who has the best appearing feminine occupants.

It's rumored that an application from the county's nudist colony has been turned down. "Unfair competition," they all!

Notes to you: We've formed a "Buy a New Necktie for Kenny Adams Club" at The Journal. So we can gain possession of the present specimen. All donations, please, accepted. Mayor Henry Fate of San Clemente was disappointed the other night when turkey wasn't served at a Laguna dinner. I have on file a fish story from Fullerton that'll make liars' contest entrants blush. Any requests? Also, one reader seeking more fish recipes. One more seeker for such info and I'll probably weaken.

Members of the Placentia Chamber of Commerce this week honored H. S. Leavitt, who for 21 years was station agent there. Ever since the town was born, Mr. Leavitt handled the local end of the rail traffic, and was well known and respected in his community. But C. C. members honored him for another reason. For his interest in young folks.

Each year the chamber presents awards to outstanding students in the elementary and high school. Each year it was the duty—and pleasure—of Mr. Leavitt to make these awards. His talks always were remembered by the students. His words saved with the kids.

And so Pop Hale and his chambermates have decided that any further presentations to students will be known under the title "Leavitt Memorial." It's a nice gesture, and very thoughtful, don't you think?

ASSOCIATED TO ACT TUESDAY ON COAST LIGHTING PLAN

LEGISLATORS TALK AT MEETING

YORBA LINDA To Be Host To County Group at Monthly Session

YORBA LINDA.—Possibility of county-wide action on a proposal that gasoline tax funds be spent for installation of special fog lights along the Coast highway, was indicated here today with announcement of a meeting of Associated Chambers of Commerce here Tuesday evening.

Member chamber Secretary Harry May said, will be expected to offer expressions of opinion regarding installation of new sodium vapor lights along the coast, where fog sometimes hampers traffic. An expression also is expected on proposed legislation which would divert chambers of financial aid from public service corporations and city governments.

The meeting, Dr. C. G. Huston, president, announced today, will be held in the Yorba Linda Woman's clubhouse and will open with a 6:30 o'clock dinner.

Assemblyman Thomas Kuchel and Clyde Watson and State Senator Harry Westover will attend the meeting, it was announced. Another feature will be explanation of a traffic safety plan by Franklin Lowmyer, representing the California Safety council.

CHURCH GROUP PLANS PLAY

GARDEN GROVE.—The annual thank offering program of the Young Women's Foreign Missionary society will be given at 7 p. m. Sunday evening at the First Methodist church, replacing the usual church services.

The program feature will be presentation of the play "Ba Thane," which deals with Burma and was written in a class at the Chicago Theological Seminary. Franklin McDonald will play the part of Gordon Worth an American missionary. Miss Beatrice Dolan, his wife, Virginia Worth; Jean Holt, the daughter, Joan Worth. Miss Mary Dolf is cast as the young Burmese girl Ma May and Leslie Christensen as her brother, Ba Thane.

Harry Gilbreath takes the part of the American newspaper reporter, Richard Gray and Howard Moore the American oil driller, Joe Fox. The play is directed by D. S. Jordan.

Psychology Is San Juan Topic

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO.—Dr. Gertrude Laws, outstanding authority on child psychology, led discussion at a meeting of Orange county public forums Wednesday night at San Juan Capistrano High school on "Parents' Part in Education for Social Control."

Anti-social conduct cannot be excused or explained by blaming "human nature," Dr. Laws said. To learn is the fundamental, the distinguishing feature of human nature, and it is this ability through which we gain our social adjustments, she added.

Music Students Give Program

OCEANVIEW.—Grace Groves and Edith Brice, associate teachers, presented their music students' recital at the home studio of Mrs. Groves recently.

Piano numbers were played by Maudea Ingram, Erma Dotson, Ruth Brown, Elaine Meinhardt, Howard Pamplin, Jimmie Van Meter and Juanita Speer. Accordion solos were played by Calvin Groves and Miss Brush presented two pupils, Mildred Samuels and Jean Brush, in guitar numbers.

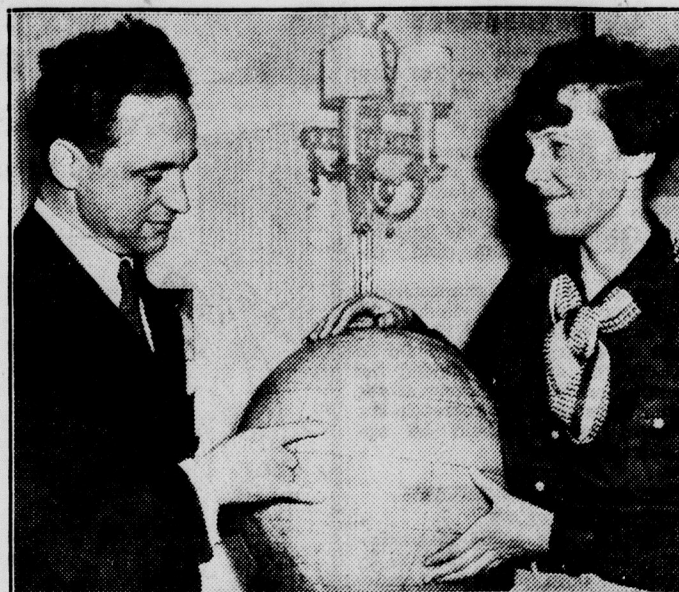

At the close of the program, Mrs. Groves and Miss Brush served refreshments to the students and their guests.

Cast of Play Feted at Dinner

OCEANVIEW.—Complimenting members of the cast who presented the farce comedy, "Look Out Lizzie," last Friday night, members of the executive board of the P-T. A. were hostesses at a Spanish dinner Tuesday evening. Places were marked for Mr. and Mrs. John R. Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Ray McCormack, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Letson, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Groves, Clinton Brush, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Pamplin, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Case, Miss Genevieve White, Miss Helen Schoenberger, Mrs. Grace Wormelsdorf, Roscoe Bradbury and Mrs. P. ANNUAL MISSIONARY FETE IS HELD IN ORANGE

Bad Burglar Has Good Taste in Theft at Newport

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—That burglar who called at the beach home of Mrs. Herbert Dives, 805 Bay avenue, must have had an eye for color.

He got away with a complete set of Hollywood pottery, ranging in color from orange to green and blue. For good measure he took along miscellaneous groceries, a yachting cap, electric toaster, and any useful tools he found around the place, according to police report.

Mrs. Dives discovered the loss on her arrival here from her Riverside home.

NAVAL HEAD TO VISIT PORT

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Rear Admiral Sinclair Gannon, U. S. N., commandant of the Eleventh Naval District, San Diego will visit Newport Harbor Saturday, Feb. 27th. During his visit he will be entertained at an informal dinner by the harbor committee of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce.

Commodore Albert Soiland, a member of the committee, will have charge of arrangements for the Admiral's visit and Admiral Gannon will be houseguest of Commodore Soiland during his stay at Newport Harbor. Chairman Walter S. Spicer of the Harbor committee has called a special meeting of that group to plan other details connected with the visit of the Naval Commandant.

In addition to chamber officials who will welcome Rear Admiral Gannon, a number of city and county officials will be present at the informal dinner to extend official greeting on behalf of their respective communities.

KILLIFER P-T.A. WILL ELECT

ORANGE.—A nominating committee was appointed at a meeting of the Killifer P-T. A. Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Lon Foster, president, appointed Mesdames E. Wood, H. G. Joost, K. McCoy, Ted Seavy and Miss Lydia Killifer to serve.

A play was presented by Mesdames Harold Richardson, C. E. Wood, H. G. Joost, W. J. Bren, and small Sally Joost and Tommy Richardson. Mrs. Wallace Craney was director. Mrs. Oliver Wickersham, Orange community council, P-T. A. president, spoke.

CHAMBERS TO JOIN FOR BANQUET

WESTMINSTER.—Arrangements are being completed for a "get together" banquet planned by members of the Westminster and Midway City chambers of commerce and the Barber City Men's club and slated for Monday evening, March 8.

Dinner will be served by the Happy Worker's society in the social hall of the Presbyterian church. Mrs. Marie Hare, Mrs. Virginia Patterson, Mrs. Paul Wilson and Mrs. Myrtle Knouse are members of a committee in charge of the banquet.

WAR IS TOPIC OF G. G. CLUB

GARDEN GROVE.—If difficulties arising this year can be passed without bringing war, development of civilization will prevent any future world wars was the opinion expressed by Dr. George A. Warner, pastor of the Santa Ana First Methodist church, when he spoke at Wednesday's luncheon meeting of the Garden Grove Lions club.

Stanley Clark and Walter Thompson were welcomed as new members. Following a discussion of the flood situation, Charles Lake was appointed to represent the club in working on a solution of the problem. Leonard Burr reported on the county council meeting at Brea Monday evening.

TUSTIN FORUM HEARS JUDGE

TUSTIN.—The law's delay is compensated for by the law's certainty in the United States, Judge J. B. Tucker, Santa Ana, told his audience at a meeting of Orange county public forums at Tustin High school Wednesday night.

One of the principal reasons for the industrial and commercial expansion of the United States and Great Britain has been the fact that in these countries parties can be sure of the meaning of the law, he said.

Next meeting of the forum at Tustin will be held at the high school March 3. The speaker will be announced later.

Aged Collegian Still Seeking Education

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—He was too old to be working his way through college, but he managed to work a Newport service station operator for a $4 subscription to the "Gyp Artist," according to a police report of the latest "gyp artist" to visit the harbor district.

Posing as authorized representative of a Long Beach news agency, the man sold him subscriptions to three magazines, according to the victim. Newport harbor police today were looking for the collegiate caller to show him the city jail.

Founders' Day P-T. A. Topic

OCEANVIEW.—Mrs. W. E. Krupp, Fullerton, was guest speaker at a Founders' day program presented Wednesday afternoon by the Oceanview P-T. A.

Mrs. Krupp, speaking on "The Significance of Founder's Day," emphasized the story of the beginning of the organization. Past presidents of the local association were special guests.

Present were Mrs. Martin Murray, Mrs. Irwin, Mrs. Ray McCormack, Mrs. J. H. Pryor, Mrs. Harry Letson and Mrs. George Harding.

The study circle, which precedes the general meeting each month, was in charge of Mrs. Evelyn Thompson, who led the discussion on "What Is Character Education?"

WOLFE CHASES CAESAR! Ides of February Unfortunate

ORANGE.—"Beware the Ides of March." So spoke the ancient soothsayer to Julius Caesar, L. F. Coburn, he was fined $100 and costs, after testimony was reviewed, in which an examining physician had pronounced him "very drunk." Caesar did not exactly think he was in Gaul, but thought he was in Riverside, when arrested, police said. He was represented by his attorney, G. Arthur Nelson, Los Angeles.

May Move Club At Barber City

BARBER CITY.—Tentative plans for removal of the clubhouse to a new location were discussed at a regular meeting of the Woman's club Wednesday afternoon.

Arrangements also were completed for a benefit dance the clubwomen are sponsoring on Saturday evening, March 13, at which time the quilt now being finished will be awarded.

Present at the Wednesday meeting were Mrs. Alma Best, president of the group; Mrs. Ray Finley, Mrs. E. B. Finley, Mrs. A. N. Olsen, Mrs. Ben Upham, Mrs. Frankie Van Uden, Mrs. Herbert Tys, Mrs. Homer Hilborn and Mrs. Russell, a guest from Long Beach. Mrs. Van Uden was hostess at the tea hour.

THE PURPLE ARROW

By MILDRED SNOW GLEASON

(Copyright, 1937, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

"Perhaps you have seen me in Bucharest," said the professor. "I've gone about quite a bit in the American Colony there."

"I haven't mingled much in society in Bucharest. Besides, it isn't your face," Ward said. "It's your voice."

"People's voices are frequently similar."

"Yes, of course," Ward agreed, but Fran could see that he was not convinced.

He dropped the matter, however, and the conversation lapsed until the meat came in. Fran looked around for the maid to have her piece cut for her, but Ward intervened.

"Let me help," he said. Fran flushed a little, but he had already taken her plate.

"You've been a bit bungled up," he remarked casually.

"Yes, an automobile accident. My brother was killed."

Ward's jaw tightened, and she had the strange impression that this was not news to him.

"I'm terribly sorry," he said sympathetically.

After supper, as she was about to return to her room, he caught up with her in the hall.

"It's a lovely night," he said. "Don't you want to take a breath of air in the garden?"

Fran hesitated. "I really think—"

"Come on," he interrupted. "It will do you good."

He took her arm and led her outside. They stood for a moment in silence. Near them, a bed of peonies filled the air with sweet perfume, and the dew on the grass sparkled in the moonlight.

"Such a beautiful world and such sickening people in it," Ward muttered.

Fran looked up at him, startled. He laughed. "Just idle chatter. Tell me, who was the old chap on my left?"

"Professor Richardson? I only know that he's a biologist from New York."

"Funny—I've heard his voice somewhere. Well, never mind." Ward shrugged. "We had better go in. It's getting cold."

WORK RUSHED ON NEWPORT SEWER

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Five carloads of machinery and equipment were due on sidings at Newport Harbor today for immediate use in construction of the new $350,000 improved and extended harbor district sewer system on which Drainage Construction company began preliminary work Feb. 1, according to R. L. Patterson, city engineer.

Road work at West Newport, site of the new modern sewage disposal plant featured in the new system, has been the first work of the big contracting company under supervision of L. S. McIntire of Anaheim, field executive.

Excavation for laying the main, in which maximum pipe will be 30 inches in diameter, may soon be started from the plant location along the Coast Highway to Corona Del Mar, it was understood.

Two-hundred working days were set as the time limit for completion of the extensive job, said to be one of the most complicated of any Public Works project in Southern California.

Mesa Class Has Monthly Fete

COSTA MESA.—Friendly class members gathered Tuesday evening in the social hall of the church for their monthly social meeting in the form of a pot-luck supper. Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Clark and Mrs. and Mrs. Elmer Clark and Mrs. and Mrs. Elmer Clark.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Kanagy and son, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Otto, Mr. and Mrs. Roy King and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. All-State Fete Planned at Mesa

COSTA MESA.—Plans are nearly completed for the annual All-States banquet to be given this year in the social hall of Community church on the evening of Feb. 26.

Dinner, which is to begin at 6:30 o'clock, will be served by members of the Ladies Aid. A special program will be arranged by each state represented.

RETURNS FROM EAST CORONA DEL MAR.—Mrs. Agnes Johnston, Carnation avenue, returned this week from the East where she has been visiting relatives. While away, Mrs. Johnston attended President Roosevelt's inauguration ceremony in Washington.

PICKET PICKETED

SAN DIEGO. (P)—Arthur Buelterman is under a suspended 30-day jail sentence today for interfering with C. Leon De Aryan, weekly newspaper publisher, when the publisher was picketing against labor pickets at a shoe store.

ATLANTIC AIR SERVICE IS IN OFFING

Mail Planes Expected To Start Regular Trips Nov. 1

WASHINGTON. (P)—J. Monroe Johnson, assistant secretary of commerce, forecast today that a definite Anglo-American agreement for transatlantic air mail and passenger service would be reached within a month.

The two governments, Johnson said, already have authorized experimental flights.

Regular mail service is expected to start about Nov. 1, but passengers probably will not be carried until next year.

The postoffice department has asked congress for $750,000 for a mail subsidy for the service, which is expected to provide four weekly round trips.

Two trips would be made by an American company, presumably Pan American Airways, and two by British Imperial Airways. The United States postoffice department would receive the money from stamps sold for the east-bound flights.

The trips would be over a 3500-mile northern route via Newfoundland during six months of the year, and a 5000-mile southern route in the other six months. The northern trip would take only 24 hours.

Nudist Colony To Have Birthday

LOS GATOS. (P)—Elysium Foundation, 114-acre nudist camp in the Santa Cruz mountains near here, will celebrate its first birthday this month.

The colony was established last February by George Spray, former radio continuity writer, and his wife.

The membership now is over 100, Spray said.

Assassin's Bullet Slays 'Bad Man'

NEW YORK. (P)—Five bullets fired by an assassin hiding in a dark hallway ended the career of Michael di Benedetto, 30, Harlem bad man, yesterday.

The gunman fired as di Benedetto entered the building where he lived with his wife and child. The killer escaped, unseen.

Adult Education News

Next Monday the adult education department will present Mrs. Maibone Graham on the federal forum program at the high school auditorium. Mrs. Graham will be the forum leader for four consecutive Mondays. She will discuss America's foreign policy. Both Mrs. Graham and her husband, Dr. Graham of U. C. L. A., have spoken a number of times in Santa Ana.

Wedding bells!!! Miss Joan Brede now signs the class register as Mrs. Ed H. Schnackenberg. Both Mr. and Mrs. Schnackenberg are members of the Spanish class.

Mrs. W. T. Kirven, who has been out of school nearly two months with a broken foot, is now able to take a few steps. She was taking woodcarving and Spanish.

School days—school days—good old golden rule days! The short-hand class has started using the blackboard for drill work.

Next Friday Miss Edith Hynes, instructor in interior decoration, will conduct a field trip to places of interest in Los Angeles. They will have tea in her studio and dinner at the Dragon's Den in Chinatown.

Each Wednesday evening the chairmanship class, which meets with R. C. Smedley at the Y. M. C. A., spends some time on word drill and grammar forms.

Mrs. Muriel White gives those interesting book reviews tonight at the Willard auditorium.

Mrs. Ruth Newman has been showing the metal craft class how to care for pewter. When dull it can be polished by using No. 000 steel wool.

Mrs. Alberta Blake of Rankin's gave a most interesting talk to the sewing classes last Tuesday evening. She used samples of the new spring materials in cotton and rayon.

Save Sunday, March 14, for the next Symphony orchestra concert. It will be at 4:30 p. m. in the high school auditorium.

The visual education class held its first meeting last Tuesday. There were 54 school people in attendance. Earl S. Dysinger of Fullerton high school and junior college explained the use and care of various kinds of visual equipment.

The drama class is planning to attend the Biltmore theater in Los Angeles to see Jane Cowl in "First Lady" the 19th of this month. Miss Mable Pruitt is the teacher.

Ted Blanding gave the gardening class a demonstration of how to trim roses last Monday evening. Two bushes of President Hoover roses were used.

Alaska Commerce Worth $115,963,586

JUNEAU, Alaska. (P)—Seward's folly—the Territory of Alaska—enjoyed commerce last year valued at $115,963,586, or 108 times more than the United States paid for it 69 years ago. Collector of Customs J. J. Connors announced today in his annual report.

Myrtle the Turtle to Dive Into Elks' Soup March 4

Myrtle the Turtle will become green turtle soup a la Louisianne the night of March 4.

Which is the date the Santa Ana Elks have set for the supper in honor of good Elks who have attracted other members to the lodge. But it's just a sort of execution date for Myrtle.

Myrtle the Turtle, a charming "miss" of 180 pounds striped, gracefully consented to come up to Santa Ana from the Gulf of Mexico so the Elks wouldn't have to eat vegetable soup.

H. R. Brinkerhoff, who is arranging the sumptuous feed, pulled a lot of strings to get Myrtle to town. He even asked the Mexican government to aid in the search for the turtle, which now reposes on a bed of ice at a local creamery before jumping into the soup.

Elks who have secured new members can put their feet under the graining table free. Others must plank down $7.50, which is the bare cost of the meal per plate. Which gives you an idea of just how elaborate the dinner will be.

Exalted Ruler V. L. Motry expects about 70 for dinner. This means there will be at least 10 "stuffed" Elks in town the night of March 4.

DROUGHT HITS U. S. OYSTER INDUSTRY

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (P)—Drought has hit the nation's $15,000,000 oyster industry.

Dr. Thurlow O. Nelson, one of America's foremost authorities on oysters, said today aquaculturists as well as agriculturists have been hurt by lack of rain in the last six years.

Floods or too much rain likewise can damage the oyster which cannot live in fresh water. Abnormal weather in the Chesapeake bay area is fatal, he said, and great floods in the Mississippi river may kill whole beds of oysters near the Gulf of Mexico. Apart from these two localities, however, the oyster is benefited by increased rain, he said.

Under normal conditions, he explained, fresh water from streams emptying into the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, has diluted the salt water so the oyster could thrive, undisturbed by marine foes which can exist only in saltier waters. When drought came, he continued, the flow of rivers decreased and the salinity of offshore waters increased, inviting back eager hordes of deadly oyster enemies.

Lenten Meditations

During the Lenten period The Journal will publish daily the meditations suggested for reading and study by Protestant churches. One of the series follows:

"He knew what was in man." Read John 2:13-25.

We think of religion far too exclusively as a matter of our knowledge of God. It is also, and in much greater part, his knowledge of us. In Christianity we become aware of this knowledge as the sympathy and compassion of Jesus. The former of these words comes from the Greek, the latter from the Latin. Both mean the same thing—sharing the experience of another.

An English novelist of the last century tells us that the greatest help we get in time of trouble comes to us from one who says quite simply, "I have experienced all that." Here, perhaps, is a clue to the source of the power which we figure the gospels have over us. As we read the gospels we know that we do not wholly understand Him, but we feel that here is One who understands us. A great deal of life is a tedious and unsuccessful attempt to explain ourselves to others. We resign ourselves to being only half understood, if not misunderstood.

When we open the gospels the situation is changed. To the deepest self we can identify a voice saying, "I have experienced all that."

Prayer: O God our Father, give us, in the hours when we do not understand ourselves and are misunderstood by others, the fellowship of Christ; that being known and apprehended by Him we may be saved from our loneliness and rest in His sympathy through Jesus Christ our Lord, Amen.

California Solons Back Court Plan

WASHINGTON. (P)—Four California Democrats in congress, Ed V. Izard, H. Jerry Voorhis, Thomas F. Ford and Byron N. Scott, today are members of a "judicial reform group" pledged to a campaign of public information in support of President Roosevelt's supreme court proposals.

Representative John A. Martin (D., Colo.) was named chairman of the group of 25.

Radio Inspector Test Announced

A chance for a radio enthusiast to get a government salary as inspector and a position as junior billing-bookkeeping-machine operator were offered today by the U. S. civil service commission.

The former pays $2000 per year, the latter $1440 per year. Further information and application blanks may be obtained from Frank Cannon at the Santa Ana postoffice.

GOLD PIECES STOLEN

MONROE, La. (P)—Police Lieutenant E. R. Burdick of Los Angeles is en route home today with Edward Nelson, negro, accused of stealing 500 foreign gold pieces from Sue Carol, movie actress. Burdick said Nelson formerly was the actress' chauffeur.

SINGER GETS JUDGMENT

MIAMI, Fla. (P)—Evelyn Ware, a singer, today holds a $7498 jury verdict against David Warner, California motion picture executive, for injuries she received in an automobile accident.

De Molay Dancers Trip 14 Times 'Around World'

They danced a distance equal to 14 trips around the world at the equator last year! And no sore feet resulted from the feat.

DeMolay Advisor George Wheeler wheeled out something new in statistics today in regard to the DeMolay-Job's Daughters dances held each Friday night at the Santa Ana Legion hall.

He whittled off the best part of a half-dozen pencils to figure out that 29,075 boys and girls between the ages of 15 and 21 years spent 101,000 happy hours dancing a total of 345,000 miles last year at the dances. This, he computed, is equal to 14 trips around the world at the equator.

12 Mile Dashes

Each dancer tripped the light or heavy fantastic, as the case might have been, for a total of 12 miles on a single night, the whirling being at the rate of four miles an hour.

Assuming that if it were necessary to move all those dancers out of town within 24 hours, it would take 166 trains moving at the rate of one each eight and three-quarters minutes to do the job. A train would shuttle 778 round trips between here and New York to use all the hours of dancing the young people did on the floor of the dance hall.

Wheeler figured out that if these dancers stood side by side they would spread out seven miles, or from Santa Ana to Anaheim. If laid end to end, they'd reach 29 miles, or almost to Los Angeles! The DeMolay dance committee, including Plummer Bruns, Courtney Chandler, George Redfield, Ed Farmer and Wheeler, and the DeMolay "Dad," Dr. Roy S. Horton, spent a total of 1274 hours at the dances last year and the advisory council spent 2732 hours, equal to 344 eight-hour days. The Job Daughter's had as their advisors at the dances Mrs. Winnie Dean, William Dean and Frank Sawyer.

Idea Popular

Long Beach DeMolay's and Job's Daughters soon will inaugurate the supervised dance idea, which is spreading from here all over the nation. Los Angeles already has started two such affairs, and Fullerton recently began a series of dances patterned after the Santa Ana model.

That the idea will become national in scope is evidenced by interest the DeMolay Grand Council in Kansas City has shown in the dances, according to Dr. Horton.

PATENTS LINE RESCUE GUN

SEATTLE. (P)—Patents for a new-type line-throwing gun, which will throw a line 650 feet to a vessel driven ashore, were received here by Comdr. M. J. Ryan, chief of staff of the Seattle division of the coast guard.

He said old guns had a range of only 250 feet, and that his invention would be of special value where ships were so far from coast guard stations that heavy life-saving equipment could not be transported to the scene of the wreck. The new gun is a regulation rifle fitted with a line holder. The projectile is a 13-ounce conical headed bullet, and will not "tumble" in the air.

The added range, he said, is especially useful when rough seas prevent close approach to a ship breaking up on the beach.

Model City Has Dope Fiend Raid

SHANGHAI. (P)—Seventy residents of the so-called "model city" of Nantung, 75 miles northwest of Shanghai, were convicted today of habitual use of narcotics and sentenced to be shot in the government's "be cured or die" campaign.

Extending the anti-narcotic drive to Nantung after first executions of dealers at Peiping several weeks ago, Chinese police arrested 2000 others suspected of selling or using habit forming narcotics.

Mother of Lee Shippey Is Dead

SAN DIEGO. (P)—Mrs. Elizabeth Kerr Shippey, 85, who knew Jefferson Davis as an intimate friend of her family, died at her Del Mar home. She was the mother of Lee Shippey, Los Angeles columnist.

LOTS OF FRUIT

SACRAMENTO. (P)—The chamber of commerce's industrial department reported Sacramento valley's 1936 fruits and vegetables pack was 33.5 per cent of California's total, or 11,239,659 cases valued at $34,040,392.

JAYSEE DEBATE TEAMS CLASH

Members of the Santa Ana Junior college negative and affirmative debate teams held a practice debate with Riverside Junior college's debate team yesterday afternoon.

The question was "Resolved: That congress should be empowered to fix minimum wages and maximum hours for industry." It is the league question, which is being debated by Jaysees in the Southern California Junior College association, which includes Santa Ana, Riverside, Pomona, Fullerton, Chaffey, Citrus and San Bernardino.

Riverside's team consisted of Al Lewis and Elmer Lewis, who debated both the negative and affirmative sides of the case. Santa Ana's negative team was composed of Andy Pellerin and Gordon Bishop, while the affirmative team consisted of Franklin Davis and Al Pickhardt.

Rowland to Talk At Tax Meeting

How a California city reduced its tax burden.

That is the subject assigned to Mayor Fred C. Rowland of Santa Ana, who will appear on the speaking program of the California Taxpayers' association's eleventh annual meeting in the Biltmore hotel, Los Angeles, Feb. 28.

Other speakers on the program will include Gov. Frank E. Merriam, Alfred W. R. Robertson, Santa Barbara, chairman of the assembly ways and means committee; Dr. Everette Dean Martin, of Claremont college, and E. C. Higgins, resident manager of Barrow, Wade, Guthrie and company, of Los Angeles.

Negro Singers to Present Cantata

A cantata featuring 50 negro voices will be presented Sunday evening at the Orange Avenue Christian church, the Rev. David M. Sayers said today.

The musical program will start promptly at 7 p. m. and is open to the public.

CREW TO SCOUR COUNTY IN FINAL CHECK ON CITRUS WHITE FLY

PROJECT IS GIVEN WPA APPROVAL

Nine Jobs at Cost of $192,287 Receive 'Go' Signal

If there are any of the pestiferous citrus white flies still lurking in host plants in Orange county they'd better look out!

On March 21 County Agricultural Commissioner D. W. Tubbs will put a crew of 21 men to work scouring every tree and shrub in the county to find out for sure if there are any of the deadly (to citrus fruit) pests left in the county.

Tubbs doesn't think there are any left here, but he wants to know for sure. More than a year ago he sought approval of a WPA project for a thorough check on the citrus white fly.

Others to Start It just came through approved yesterday, along with a bunch of other WPA projects. The white fly project will employ 21 men at a cost of $17,857 to the federal government and $4744 to the county, as sponsor.

Dates for starting nine WPA projects costing a total of $192,287 and employing 397 persons were announced today by Dan Mulheron, head of the WPA here, and Fred P. Jayne, chief of the PTWW division of WPA in Orange county. The white fly project comes under the PTWW division.

Other PTWW projects were as follows: San Clemente school, food for undernourished children, federal cost $457, sponsor $291, employing two persons, starting March 11; renovating and repairing garments for relief clients, $34,436 federal, $1487 sponsor, employing 111 persons, starting on March 21; funds for paying key workers on cooperative self-help projects, Garden Grove, $2250 federal, five persons; Brea, $3435 federal, employing eight persons, and Fullerton, $2517, employing six workers. The cooperative projects start March 11.

Street Improvements Other WPA projects scheduled to start are: San Clemente street improvements, $42,149 federal, $21,181 sponsor, 115 men, starting March 1; San Clemente parkways, $24,300 federal, $10,622 sponsor, 66 men, starting Feb. 26; Laguna Coast boulevard tree project, $1465 federal, $425 sponsor, 10 men, starting March 6; Delhi drainage project, $2975 federal, $230 sponsor, 27 men, starting March 6.

Time Marches on Here With Watch Carried by Napoleon On Famous Trip to Moscow

By BOB GUILD

Time marches on! One hundred and twenty-five years ago this stem-winding watch marched proud and shining toward Moscow with Napoleon.

Today it sits, no longer proud and shining, but still valiantly ticking off the minutes, in a Santa Ana jewelry store window. It started life in Warsaw, Poland, the handiwork of Verges, famous jeweler. Today it is 200 years old—or young, and whatever the story it has to tell, it still tells time, as well as ever.

Owned by K. A. Loersch, Santa Ana optometrist, whose grandfather first carried it, it is spending its days of old age in a sunny spot in the window of A. L. McEvoy, Fourth street jeweler. Trip to America It marched on Moscow—and told the time of day all during that mad and blood-drenched retreat through the snow—back to Poland and safety. It is not known whether it also tasted disaster with Napoleon at Waterloo, or whether it ever told the time of day or night to Josephine. Later it made the trip to America—when this still was the land of opportunity—and ultimately came to its resting place in McEvoy's jewelry store.

But that's only the beginning—Next to the watch that marched on Moscow sits a watch that runs without wheels. And next to that a pair of spectacles that may have ridden on Father Junipero Serra's scholarly nose, when San Juan Capistrano mission was only a dream and a pile of sun-baking bricks. Older Than Memory The watch that runs without wheels is older than the other—older than its owner knows. It is combination compass-sundial affair, built for a pocket piece, and guaranteed to tell the time of day anywhere in the world, provided their is sunlight to see by. You fix the compass with its needle pointing north, and then see the face of the compass-watch on a little scale, depending on whether you are in Berlin, Florence or Lisbon. A needle casts a fine shadow over the hour of the day. And the spectacles. Loersch doesn't know these were Father Serra's specs, but they might very well have been. A friend found them in a crumbling wall of the mission.

POULTRYMEN ASK TAX ON IMPORTS

Congress Waging Fight To Protect Local Poultrymen

Poultrymen of Orange county are keenly interested in the fight California congressmen are starting to protect their industry, according to a statement released today by A. L. Wolfert, chairman of the Orange County Farm bureau poultry department.

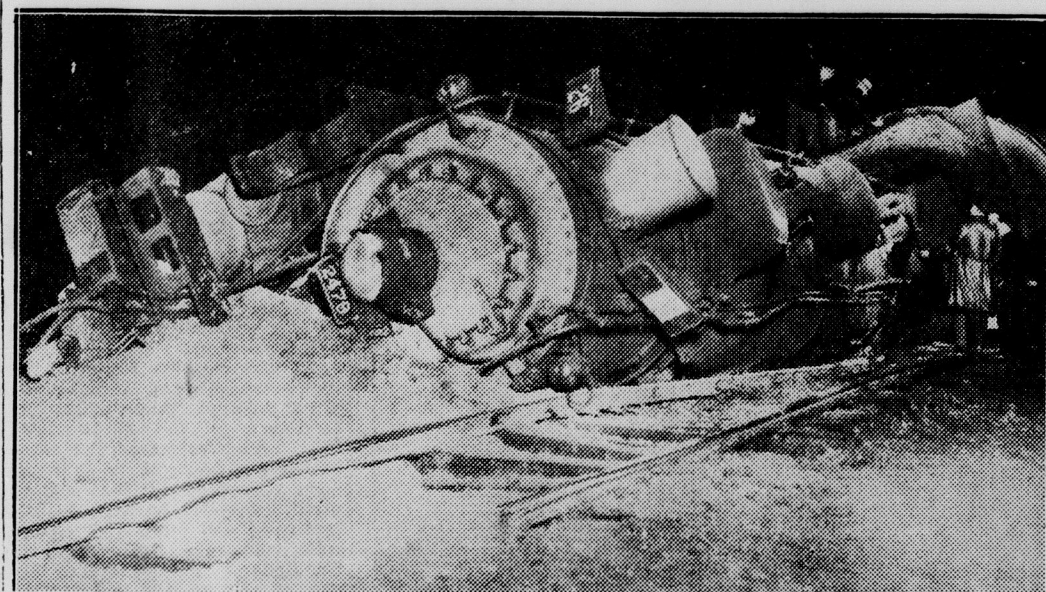

Word has been received, he said, that a bill has been introduced in congress levying an excise tax on foreign eggs. Congressman Harry Sheppard is actively working on this matter, it was said.

Important Effect Few agricultural matters coming before congress will have the effect on California farmers which this act will have, Wolfert said, because for many years the Farm bureau has advocated an excise tax calculated to give some protection to California poultrymen against a flood of imported eggs, chiefly of Chinese origin.

"These importations," he said, "constitute one of the chief factors in holding the price of eggs down to a level which makes it impossible for our poultry producers to compete on a basis of American living standards. Moreover, the problem is not one affecting alone our poultry industry. Poultry producers are the best customers of many of our producers of foods."

Increased Income "In attempting to solve the economic problems of growers on small acreages, the recommendation frequently is made that such farmers increase their income, derived from tree fruits and nuts, by going into commercial poultry production. "But this practice, providing an additional farm enterprise for many growers, and benefitting soils through proper distribution of poultry fertilizer, is not feasible at this time because of the inability to make poultry production profitable in the face of importations of cheap eggs."

Two Killed in Auto-Train Crash

This locomotive and seven coaches were derailed when a train struck a stalled automobile near Fresno, Calif. Workmen are shown trying to reach the body of Fireman R. E. Brown of Fresno, who, with Engineer J. F. Mills, of Bakersfield, lost his life. F. K. Ritchie, of Porterville, owner of the car, and his wife leaped to safety. GEORGE BALL IN JAYSEE PLAY

A leading man has finally been cast for "Lost Horizons," Santa Ana Junior college Fiesta play. He is George Ball, who tried out for the part Tuesday night. Virginia Wilson is the feminine lead. All but three characters had been cast last night, and it looked for awhile as though there might never have been a leading man. Ernest Crozier Phillips is directing the production.

Each year in conjunction with the annual Fiesta, the drama department puts on a play. "Lost Horizons" promises to be one of the most outstanding productions put on by the college department, Phillips said.

Besides Ball, Bill Greshner, Harold Pottorff and Paul Christ were cast for characters Tuesday night at the Y. M. C. A. Aside from those chosen, the rest of the cast consists of Carolyn Ryan, Lou Ella Pierce, Barbara Kiser, Wadine Siler, June Beckstrand, Jane King, Elmer Meyer, Harold Barrett, Lawrence Trickey, Edward Velazquez, James Doyle, Joe Yocum, Bill Keeton, Bob Paul, Marvin Hinton, Joe Crawford, Joe Kobayashi, Ola Orrell, Emery Steele and Paul Martin.

Orpheo Troup Planning to Perform at 12 High Schools

Allen Titensor, student manager of the Orpheo troupe at Santa Ana Junior college, announced today that letters had been sent to Orange county high school principals outlining this year's program. This year a large variety of entertainment is being provided for the tours. Twelve Orange county high schools will be visited. The emissaries will invite graduating seniors to the annual Fiesta day activities in May.

Schools to which letters have been sent are Santa Ana, San Juan Capistrano, Tustin, Orange, Anaheim, Brea-Olinda, La Habra, Valencia, Newport Beach, Laguna Beach, Huntington Beach and Garden Grove.

Features of this year's troupe are a one-act play by the drama department, men's chorus, men's glee club, women's glee club and women's double sextet. The men's glee club has increased in membership to 41, the largest organization of its kind in Southern California, junior colleges, Titensor said. Principals of the prep schools will select their choice from the list of entertainments for an assembly at their discretion, Titensor revealed.

November and December are months for storing Irish potatoes, turnips, pumpkins, squashes and citrons. has begun a study of the salaries paid to thousands of employees in the state government with a view to placing the salaries of these workers on a par with those paid in private industry. The investigation is expected to require several months.

Crop, Feed Loans Now Available

WASHINGTON. (AP) — The farm credit administration announced the $50,000,000 congress provided for 1937 emergency crop feed loans are available to farmers this week in all parts of the country.

Col. P. G. Murphy, who will direct the lending, said loans would be limited to farmers "who have no other source of credit." The size of the loan will be limited to the amount "actually needed to grow crops or maintain livestock until pasturage or forage crops are available." The maximum will be $400 at 4 per cent interest.

Asylum Chief's Hearing March 2

LOS ANGELES. (AP) — Hearing of charges by the California Federation of Women's Clubs against Joseph M. Kelley, superintendent of the Oakland state school for the adult blind, will be heard by the state personnel board in Sacramento March 2.

The hearing, scheduled here for Tuesday, was postponed because neither party to the controversy was ready to appear. The federation charges Kelley with inefficiency, incompetency and intoxication.

Valentino Films Still 'Wow 'Em'

CHICAGO. (AP) — Rudolph Valentino, the late movie idol, still wows 'em on the screen, University of Chicago coeds agreed today. The University Film Society, presenting revivals of the actor's torrid love scenes from the burning sands to the courts of Europe, has had to turn crowds away. Valentino died 10 years ago.

Stockton Plans For Conventions

STOCKTON. (AP) — College of the Pacific and two laundries probably will be converted into hotels to accommodate the 15,000 delegates expected here for the American Legion-G. A. R. conventions, Aug. 8 to 11. Convention organizers stated visitors to the sessions are expected to spend $750,000 here.

Candlelight Gleams Cheery Welcome to Comus Members in Orange Setting

First Dance Under New Board

Supper Parties Given In Homes Before Affair

Red candles, burning in candleabra around the attractive lounge, greeted 75 Comus club couples and about a dozen guest couples last night in the Orange American Legion clubhouse, when they gathered for their first dance under the new board of directors.

Fred Merker, who has been chosen the president for the coming year, assumed his new duties last evening, announcing election of Mrs. Frank Miller as the new treasurer.

Receiving as hosts in the pretty setting were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ragan, Mr. and Mrs. William Stauffer, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Welsh and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Daniger, the four ladies in formal dresses of lovely hues.

Mrs. Stauffer wore a dark wine red crepe with tulle jacket. Mrs. Daniger's gown was black chiffon with puff sleeves, and Mrs. Ragan was also in black, her gown of net with bows and touches of coral velvet. Mrs. Welsh was in a beautiful shade of red taffeta with flowers of the material as a bright corsage.

The valentine theme was carried into the ballroom, where partners for one of the novelty dances were found by matching paper hearts.

Dinner Parties
The dance was the occasion for a number of pleasant little dinner and supper parties in the homes of several of the members before going over to Orange.

Among those entertaining were Mr. and Mrs. Riley Huber, guests included Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Bruning, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Fernandez, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. George Clough, and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin D. Holmes, Al Fernandez and Miss Katherine Padic.

Dr. and Mrs. John Wehrly were hosts to 24 in their home on North Park boulevard, all going over to the dance together after the dinner.

Spring Motif
The buffet supper was spread on a pretty table centered with an array of many-colored tulips, and the spring theme was repeated in the living rooms of the home, where jonquils and violets were arranged in artistic bouquets.

Another party was presided over by Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sawyer and Mr. and Mrs. George Baker, in the Cameron home, at 2403 Oakmont.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel Ogle and Mr. and Mrs. Leland Finn were supper guests of Dr. and Mrs. Lyle Kelley at their home on East Nineteenth street.

FETES SISTER ON BIRTHDAY

Miss Cora M. Kurlie of 2407 French street, sister of her sister, Mrs. L. E. Bassett, at a birthday dinner one recent evening, carrying out the valentine motif and setting before the honored guest a birthday cake which, itself, represented a valentine.

The cake was a gift of Mrs. Bassett's nephew and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gilbert, who, with their baby son, were among the guests.

Others participating in the celebration with Mrs. Bassett and her hostess were the former's husband, Mr. Bassett; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Reichard, cousins from Los Angeles, and another nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gilbert.

NATION'S BEST DRESSED PAIR

Gladys Swarthout, beautiful opera star, and her sportsman husband, Frank Chapman, have been named America's "best dressed" couple. Gladys, listed among the nation's 16 smartest, says she dresses for the fun of it and Miss Swarthout admits she dolls up to please Chapman. The Chapmans are shown here at home in New York. (Associated Press Photo)

Gladys Swarthout is a cousin of John Swarthout of Santa Ana.

ATTEND SON'S WEDDING IN THE NORTH

Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Klatt of West Seventeenth street just returned from Santa Clara, where they attended the wedding of their son, Frank W. Klatt, to Miss Helen Kay Dixon of San Francisco, the ceremony occurring at the Mission Santa Clara on St. Valentine's day, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The Rev. Father William Gagner, S. J., vice president of the University of Santa Clara, officiated.

Mrs. E. P. Bicknell, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and E. P. Bicknell II was the best man.

The wedding party was entertained at dinner at the Hotel De Anza in San Jose before the couple left for a two-weeks honeymoon in the Southland. They will make their home in San Francisco, where Mr. Klatt is employed by the Bank of America.

Miss Jeanette Klatt, sister of the groom, and Vincent Dixon, the bride's brother, were also guests at the wedding.

The federal government paid more than $33,000,000 emergency expenditures to check unemployment and suffering in Nebraska in 1936.

SUPREME HEAD AT BEAUCEANT LUNCHEON

Beauceant welcomed a high official when it met at the Masonic temple Wednesday for luncheon and an afternoon of exemplification of their work, their honored guest being Mrs. William S. Bracette, of Minneapolis, Minn., the supreme worthy president.

Sharing honors with Mrs. Bracette were Mrs. Joseph Smith, supreme orator, from Pasadena; Mrs. George Cull, supreme marshal, from Minneapolis; Frank Williams, supreme outer guard, from Whittier; Mrs. Fred Dillenbeck of Kansas, a past supreme president, and C. E. Smith, commander of Santa Ana Commandery.

All of the visiting officials spoke during the afternoon, and all the work of the lodge was exemplified for the president. Eighty-five were seated at the luncheon tables, representing all the assemblies of this district except San Diego, and seven assembly presidents were introduced.

During the business session, the assembly voted to change its meeting time from 2 o'clock to 1 o'clock, in order to have time for a social hour at the close of the meetings.

SIXTY ATTEND LENTEN MEAL

St. Elizabeth's guild of the Episcopal Church of the Messiah entertained 60 at the second Lenten luncheon of the series being given by the women's organizations of the church every Tuesday in the Parish hall.

Mrs. Marshall Harnois, assisted by Mrs. Frank Lansdowne, Mrs. H. F. Brinkerhoff, Mrs. William Wollaston, and Mrs. Fred Anderson prepared the luncheon which was served from 1:30 a. m. to 1:30 p. m.; and Mrs. Adelaide Lowe, Mrs. Preston Turner, and Mrs. George Lusk were in charge of decorating and serving.

Department Head Is Feted

Promotion of peace and good will, attainment of adequate national defense as security for that peace and adoption of neutrality measures as long as they work and then the proposed universal service act, designed to take profits out of war, were set down as three of the beliefs of the American Legion and auxiliary as a whole, and service to their communities as the purposes of the separate posts and units, in the inspiring address given to Orange county auxiliaries, legionnaires, and friends last night by Mrs. Ruth Mathebat, department president, at Santa Ana auxiliary's dinner.

History of the formation of the Legion and of its accomplishments and those of the auxiliary through the years was reviewed by Mrs. Mathebat, who congratulated the Santa Ana unit and its excellent drill team and presented to the unit a state prize for membership.

At the close of her talk, the unit presented Mrs. Mathebat with a gift in appreciation of her visit to them.

Places of honor at the dinner tables, decorated in the patriotic motif, were accorded to Mrs. Mathebat and other visiting officials, who were introduced during the dinner by President Tona Sandon of the hostess unit. These visitors, and the past presidents and others who were presented, were:

Mrs. Mathebat; Mrs. Florence Smith of Anaheim, of the state finance board; Mrs. Marjorie Wingate of Riverside, district president; Mrs. Pauline Cleary of Tustin, district vice president; Mrs. Lillian Thorpe, president of Orange County American Legion Auxiliary council; Dennis Black of Anaheim, petit chapeau of the Eight-and-Forty; Pearl Laub, president of the D. A. V.; Mrs. Martha Elliott, president of the Gold State Mothers; Mrs. Amy Stewart, president of the Legion Mothers' club; C. M. Featherly, commander of the Legion post, and Ben Lieberman, commander of the fifth area.

Past Presidents
Mesdames Fannie Reeves, Florence Robinson, Nora McCalla, Josephine Lyke, Agnes Stuebel, Gertrude Collier, Marian Mathews, Margaret Hill, Edna Eklund, Ruth Jellis, Alma Hoover and Miss Louise Tubbs, past presidents of the unit; and Mrs. Eleanor Elliott and Betty Cox, representatives of the local newspapers.

Helene Randall, of Newport Beach, district rehabilitation chairman; Anna Kraemer of Costa Mesa, National News chairman; Ada Kirkpatrick, district publicity chairman; Mrs. A. Noble of Riverside, district historian; Josephine Fulford of Anaheim, community service chairman of the district, and Marian Mathews, district radio chairman.

Excellent drill work on the part of the team, under direction of Rosanne Harcourt, and music by the unit's sextet, marked the impressive initiation rites in which the following became members of county units:

Mesdames Flossie Bettis, Laura Bettis, Ella Van Benhusen, Madeline Omohundra, Quessie Anderson, Ella Winkle and Myrtle E. Blencoe, Santa Ana; Mrs. Florabelle Stage, Brea; Mrs. Urna Davis and Mrs. Amanda Seaton, Orange; Ruth Lana and Mary Wilkin Winter, La Habra; and Mrs. Olive Payne, Mrs. Charlotte Merrick and Mrs. Delores Morrison, Costa Mesa.

Mrs. Hill, one of the past presidents, prepared the delicious turkey dinner which preceded the meeting, and members of the Legion drum corps did the serving.

PAN HELLENIC MONDAY
Pan Hellenic will hold its monthly meeting Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Paul Bailey, 311 East Washington street. Co-hostesses for the evening will be Reva Hawkins, Carrie B. Wells and Betty Campbell.

Husbands to Hear Mrs. Valley

In order that their husbands may have an opportunity to hear one of Mrs. Jack Valley's interesting reviews of current events and books, seven of which the local Ebell club is privileged to hear through the year, Ebell members are holding next Monday's meeting in the evening and are making a social occasion of it.

Mrs. Valley has selected a wide variety of subjects for her reviews that evening, planning her program with appeal for the men members of her audience as well as for the Ebell group.

Husbands will be welcomed without guest cards, and members are urged to extend these other guest privileges to others who would be interested in hearing the well known lecturer and student of world affairs.

EBELL SECTION IN EVENING OF CONTRACT

Contract section of Ebell club enjoyed informal hours of play when they met at the clubhouse Wednesday evening. Mrs. Perry Davis and Mrs. Francis Norton winning high prizes in the games.

Participating in the play were the Mesdames Perry Davis, Fenton Dean, Lyle Kelley, H. Raymond Smith, A. Wakeham, William Armstrong, Stanley Norton, Francis Norton, Ralph Cunningham, Oliver Lindemeyer, Chester Horton, John Scripps and Herbert Stroschein, and the Misses Nan and Lolita Mead, Marian Brownridge, Betty Smedley, Natalie Neff, Mary Tuthill and Helen Tietjen.

This month's meeting was a no-hostess affair, but the section will return to hostess parties in March when Mrs. Charles McDaniel, Mrs. Crawford Nalle and the Misses Mead will preside.

MISSIONARY WOMEN MEET

The Foreign Missionary society of the First Methodist church held a very enjoyable meeting Wednesday afternoon in the parlors of the church, with prayers led by Mrs. S. E. Hearn, and devotion by Mrs. subject of "Man's Greatest Need" conducted by Mrs. B. Lawrence.

An interesting little skit was presented under the direction of Miss Mary Lamb, with those taking part including Mrs. J. F. Plack, Mrs. G. M. Ramsey, Mrs. White, Mrs. C. A. Linwood, Mrs. Laura Leonard, Mrs. J. Mills, Mrs. B. Cox, Mrs. Anna Hassler, Mrs. C. Lane, Mrs. E. Demarest and Mrs. Mary Allen.

Mrs. Jack Snow announced the continuance of the missionary reading contest, and Mrs. H. I. Tway, program chairman, presented Mrs. Blanche Owen and Mrs. Green who sang two delightful duets, accompanied by Mrs. Mayme Haven. Miss Audrey Fey presented several whistling solos, after which Mrs. Duane Smith discussed the schools in Africa.

The African theme was continued with Mrs. Hildebrand, Mrs. Lane and Mrs. Plack each discussing heroes of Africa, after which Mrs. Emma Carhart gave a short reading, and Mrs. Harry Chapman delivered a closing talk.

CALUMPIT WOMEN MEET

Installation of Mrs. Emma K. Wassum as historian of Calumpit auxiliary, United Spanish War Veterans, and reception of applications from Mrs. L. I. Ray and Mrs. A. Rowland marked Tuesday night's session of the auxiliary in the K. of C. hall, with Mrs. Jean Tentler presiding.

Plans were made for the potluck supper next Tuesday at 6:30 p. m., in charge of Bert Dick and committee, and for a benefit party which the drill team will give March 30. Mrs. Wassum read a tribute to "The Maine."

Mrs. Rosa Bowers received the prize for membership attendance, and Mrs. Adaline Kimball the special prize. Visitors included Grace Stevens, Florence Winders, Alma Tobol of Long Beach, and Anna Alstead of Coldwater, Mich.

Dr. Sorenson, department commander of the veterans, spoke to the auxiliary.

MARY STODDARD

Lovelorn School Girl Wants Advice On Attracting Boy's Attention

By MARY STODDARD

If only love could be confined to ages! How simple it would be if we could say, "I'm 18 now. I like this boy, so I know it's love." Unfortunately, such is not the case, and in fact, often when men and women a great deal older think they are in love, and wait a year, they realize that it wasn't true love. Here is a little high school girl who has been living in a world of dreams. She has built up every illusion possible about one of the school's outstanding boys. And I really think that his chief attraction is his polite indifference. From the cradle to the grave we all want what we think we cannot have.

She asks what she can do to make him notice her. Well, there is no way I know of, unless she appears more bold, and consequently cheapens herself. A girl should always strive to be dainty, neat, and clean, but it seems to me that she may be thinking too much about her appearance, and consequently appear if not vain, self-conscious.

Here is her letter:
Dear Miss Stoddard: I have read your column very carefully.

NEIGHBORS MEET FOR SOCIAL AFTERNOON

Mrs. Hollis Lindsey entertained the Neighborhood club at her home on Wass avenue, Tustin, Wednesday afternoon when the members, who had postponed their meeting from last week, gathered for several informal hours of sewing and chat.

At the close, she seated her guests at one long table spread with a lace cloth and centered with a glass basket of red berries, white hyacinths, and blue eucalyptus buds. For place markers, still carrying out the patriotic theme, she had arranged little marshmallow cannons flying tiny silk flags.

Enjoying the day were the Mesdames Arthur Trickey, Owen Murray, Fenlon Mathews, Frank Greenwood, Ernest A. Watson, Ray Rundles, and Earl Sharpless, and the hostess, and one guest, Mrs. Emma Johnson. Mrs. Lindsey's daughter from Monterey park.

Hair Should Resemble A Silken Halo

By JACQUELINE HUNT
Make your hair a silken halo. If you have a fingerwave, comb it out completely, then spray, with brilliantine or one of the pleasing hair perfumes, and press the waves neatly into line. Comb and brush the end curls over your finger and push them into place—this, of course, if your face needs the kindness of a fluffy hair arrangement. If your features are nice, your nose perfect and your eyes large and lovely, you may prefer a sleeker, more sophisticated coiffure. Your coiffure should always give your silhouette the right balance.

If your eyes are rather small or light in coloring, but you have a nice mouth, give the latter the leading roll. Practice until you can get your lipstick just right. Be sure that the shade is flattering to you, bright but not harsh, and applied to bring out the rounded contours of your lips. A nice face and good features are always a help, still you need one perfectly stunning feature to put you across.

D. A. V. WOMEN FINISH PLANS

Jack Fisher auxiliary of the Disabled American Veterans discussed final plans for the military ball when it met Wednesday night in the K. of C. hall, and after their business session joined the chapter for a social hour and coffee served by Mrs. Ella Pickard, chairman; Mrs. Ruth Lange, Mrs. Olga Wood and Mrs. Frances Thatcher.

The sewing club of the auxiliary reported handwork for veterans' hospitals done at the February 10 meeting at the home of Mrs. E. Redford, 1327 South Van Ness, when the Mesdames Dean Laub, Anna Hutchinson, Olga Wood, Willa Maxson, Ruth Lange, Frances Thatcher, Harry Pickard, Henry Marrs and Van L. Brown, and the hostess were present.

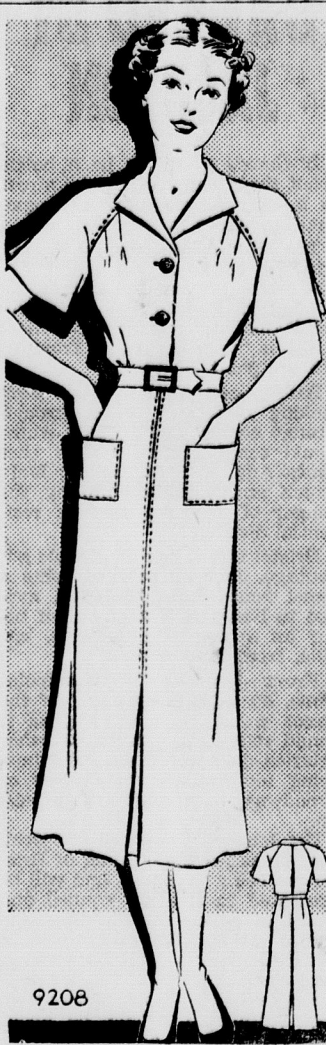

PRETTY SHOWER AT YOEUL HOME

Mrs. Percy Vines of Long Beach was honored Wednesday at a luncheon and layette shower given in the home of Mrs. Howard Yoeul, 508 Eastside Avenue.

At the luncheon hour, guests were seated at a lace-covered table lighted by pink tapers and centered by a huge pink and white bouquet. The afternoon was spent sewing and playing bridge.

Those present were Mrs. Vines' mother, Mrs. Joe Miller, and Mesdames John Cooley, Wellington Snider, Gladstone Coulson and Charles Olson, all of Long Beach; Mrs. Gertrude Licht, Santa Ana, and the hostess' mother, Mrs. R. P. Nieb, of Los Angeles.

A season of glorious possibilities—is Spring, so why not make the most of them by turning out a trim, youthful shirtwaist frock that will prove to be the most dependable all-purpose style of your wardrobe? A popular "classic" is the shirtwaist, and this Marian Martin version is spiced up with the brightest touches of the new season's fashions. Slashed raglan sleeves, pointed collar, and action-back that allows for all the freedom an active person needs! You won't use a large amount of your precious time for this frock's making, either—for Pattern 9208 is the easiest ever to finish up in a few hours. Smart and practical fabrics for this dashing sportster are crisp linen, colorful shantung, or cotton. Complete Diagrammed Marian Martin Sew Chart included.

Pattern 9208 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 requires 3 1/2 yards 36-inch fabric.

Sent 15 cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your size, name, address, and style number.

For you—new flattery! Send for our new Marian Martin Pattern Book! It contains just the exciting new Spring wardrobe suggestions you've been looking for! Easy-to-sew patterns for everyone from Tiny Tots to Fashionable "Fifties"—including becoming morning and afternoon frocks, dainty undies, dashing sports togs and party fashions. News of new fabrics, too! Book 15 cents. Pattern 15 cents. Twenty-five cents for both when ordered together.

Send your order to Santa Ana Journal, Pattern Department, 117 East Fifth Street.

Yardage of Dresses Depends On Rank of Royalty

(Editor's Note: This is the second and last of the articles on coronation clothes prepared by the Associated Press.)

LONDON. (AP)—Peers' robes must be crimson velvet—or purple velvet if they are of royal blood—and the court gowns they wear underneath them must be white, cream, silver or gold.

Mayfair dressmakers, who have been busy on coronation orders for some months, say 17 yards of velvet is needed for a duchess' robe as compared with 15 yards for a baroness. The ermine trimming on a duchess' robe is three inches wider than in the peeress of lower degree.

One of the most expensive items of the peeress' robes are the gold-on-girdle and tassels which cost about $25.

State and levee uniforms to be worn by men other than peers at the coronation, range from $500 for the prince consort's full-dress coat lined with silk to $162 for the fifth and lowest class of levee uniform.

Cloak and Sword
White court breeches, gold-laced pants, a black cocked hat, gilt shoes and knee buckles, a sword and a buff shoe-cloak are among the items which help to increase the cost.

A silk velvet court suit with breeches and steel buttons costs $125 and a sword to wear with it about $30 more.

Mantles for the various orders of knighthood cost upwards of $160, some of them are made of crimson or purple satin lined with white silk with cordon, tassels and badge.

What and official of the earl marshal's office described as "a mitigated form of court dress" may be worn in the abbey by trade union leaders, representatives of friendly societies, and others who are unable to afford court dress.

White Waistcoats
This is expected to be evening dress with white waistcoats and white ties.

So that the vast mass of people—who won't be in the abbey—may have an opportunity to study the royal family's coronation dress at closer quarters, Queen Elizabeth has ordered that they should be placed on display to the public May 17. Proceeds of the exhibition will be given to charity.

Coronation colors will be incorporated in most of the spring suitings, Savile row predicts, and red and white pin-stripes on a blue background are expected to be popular.

Ties with tiny embroidered crowns and the symbol "G.R.VI" already are in the stores, and there are shirts adorned with the letters of the word "coronation" in various patterns for the very brave.

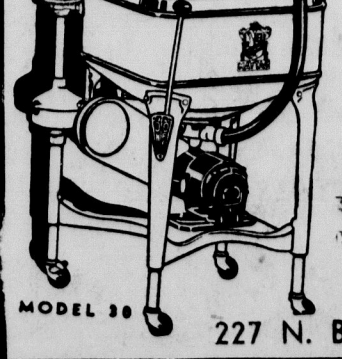

Pajamas with reproductions of the empire flags across the chest are expected to make their first appearance soon in shops.

OLD NEIGHBORS GIVE SHOWER
A little group of her friends and former neighbors surprised Mrs. John McFarland Wednesday night at her home, 1728 West Walnut street, bringing with them a lovely gift for her home, cards, prizes and refreshments.

A George Washington color scheme was carried out in the appointments of the tables and in the pretty prizes won by Mrs. Leonard Musick and Mrs. Syd Messenger at five hundred.

Those participating in the surprise were the Mesdames Charles Milner, Herbert Birt, Earl Lepper, Syd Messenger, Stuart Gibbs, Fred Hanson, Louis Endres, Norman Cowdrey, James Province, James Sullivan, Lawrence Brown, Floyd Nelson, Lloyd Ozhirn, Richard Melz, Leonard Musick, Leonard Hamacker and William Lindsey.

The bride and groom will make their home in San Diego, where he is connected with the Union Oil company.

Glycerine Is Muffin Preservative

By JUDITH WILSON
With breakfast appetites perking up, these mornings why not surprise your family with something extra special in the way of hot muffins.

If you are worried about leftovers all you need do is to take a tip from English bakers and add a few drops of glycerine that will keep them moist and fresh for days. You can reheat them later or toast them and no one will suspect they are not freshly made. See if these muffins will not get your morning off to a brighter start.

Date Muffins
Sift 1 1/2 cups flour with 2 teaspoons baking powder and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Cream 4 tablespoons butter, add 4 tablespoons sugar and blend thoroughly. Add 1 well beaten egg, then the flour mixture alternately with 1 cup milk. Beat until smooth. Cut pitted dates to make 1/2 cup and rub the pieces well with 2 teaspoons glycerine. Add to the muffin mixture and bake in greased muffin tins in a hot oven for 20 minutes.

The glycerine keeps the dates fresh and moist and prevents the muffins from molding, if you forget and leave them in the bread box a day longer than you expected to.

TWO PAST NOBLE GRAND GROUPS HAVE MEETINGS

Past Noble Grands of the two Rebekah organizations in Santa Ana enjoyed pleasant sessions yesterday afternoon, each group being served a delicious luncheon and spending the afternoon at chat and sewing.

At their business session, Sycamore Past Noble Grands made plans for two card parties to be held at the homes of Mrs. Milly West and Mrs. Flossie Baker, and decided to meet next month with Mrs. Emma Chandler, with Mrs. Rhoda Ramlofe, Mrs. Fanny Rose and Mrs. May Curtis as co-hostesses.

They were entertained yesterday in the home of Mrs. Stella Henderson, 210 Hobart, with the assistance of Effie Means and Mrs. Bessie Stovall.

Members present were the Mesdames Millie West, Catherine Clark, Fannie Rose, Emily Northrup, Lillian Ellis, Leola Dietrich, Maude Wiley, Florence Crawford, Stella Howell, Emma Chandler, Fanny Taylor, Fae Baker, Pearl Nicholson, Rhoda Ramlofe, two out of town visitors, Mrs. Anna Johnson and Mrs. Irma Frazee of Minnesota, and the vice grand, Mrs. Flossie Baker.

Torosa Past Noble Grands sewed for the bazaar they will hold later this spring, and met at the home of Mrs. Mary Watkins, 1502 North Ross street, with Mrs. Mary Cooper and Mrs. Jean Tremble as co-hostesses. Their next month's hostess will be Mrs. Allie Cain, 621 West Eighth street, assisted by Mrs. Mary Watkins and Mrs. Edna Kinsella.

Home Service Look for Lucky Stars In Your Palm

You Can't Lose
Wealth, Ability, Heart, Exciting Fate, Sex Appeal, Imagination, Power.

Do you seek love, money, power? Read your palm and know your luck. A star on any finger tip means luck's yours in everything. Sex Appeal is your gift if your star on the Mount of Venus; be confident in love. Wealth, says a star on the Mount of Apollo; power, on Jupiter.

If you're starless, find your fate in the lines, the shape of your hand. Is the third finger long, the base prominent? You're a "lucky Apollonian"; easy for you to make money, win friends.

Some signs say: "Take care!" Are your hands soft, boneless? You're too yielding. Does your Heart Line begin below the second finger? A Saturnian man's your fate. He's not impressionable, so be clever.

Learn the whole story of your palm. Our 32-page diagrammed booklet tells you how to read palms with ease, amuse yourself, interest friends.

Send 10c for your copy of Secrets of Palmistry to Santa Ana Journal, Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

Iodine Swabs Used For Tonsillitis

By C. N. CHRISTMAN, M. D.
The tonsils are lymphatic glands which lie one on each side of the back of the throat behind the pillars. Often they become greatly enlarged and they may almost fill the throat, even when the child is in good health.

As a result of exposure they become inflamed and cause severe illness. An attack usually occurs suddenly with chill, fever, sore throat, and difficulty and painful swallowing. General aching, headache and possibly sick stomach are common. The fever runs high from 103 to 105 degrees F., with great prostration.

On examination of the throat, one tonsil or both are much swollen and fiery red. The entire palate and back of the throat are angry-looking and inflamed. The surface of the tonsil is covered with a number of white spots, which are plugs of eroded tissue that fill the crypts. Occasionally they cover the entire tonsil.

The glands of the neck are swollen. Earsache, a stuffed feeling in the head and some deafness may be noted. The attack lasts from three or four days to a week or more with extreme weakness and prostration. About the time one tonsil recovers the other may be attacked.

If recognized early, the application of a fifty per cent solution of tinct. of iodine in glycerine or a ten per cent solution of nitrate of silver may shorten or even abort the attack.

Garden Secrets

By Willis Cadwallader of Blanding Nurseries

"Dear Heart of Earth, that hast secure,
Our rose-wreaths in thy keeping—
Dear Dew of Night, that watereth
The roots where they lie sleeping."

In every landscape setting some provision should be made for the crown of flowers, the rose. The design may vary greatly according to individual tastes, the position and size of the plot in question.

Where it is practical, the rose is best accentuated by means of turf paths and borders around and through the rose garden area. Wide rose beds may be used, but lawn strips between bushes show up the soil to better advantage than barren soil.

In the modern garden the tendency is to plant all hybrid tea roses. This leaves the garden out of balance by neglecting the foliage and garden lines. The foliage and garden lines up for its short flowering season by its leaf growth and shrubby appearance. Rugosa roses should be included in the garden because they carry their highly colored fruit into the new year.

To break the monotony, arches and pillars may be placed at intervals. The use of arches, together with turf walks and borders, sets apart the rose garden as something distinctive and attractive, rather than as a cut flower garden to be screened from the view.

The Care of the Rose
Roses like fertile, well-drained soil. If the soil does not afford good drainage, it should be dug out rather deeply and crushed rock added. Peat moss should be dug in well to make the soil more pliable. A soil that is too sandy is not good for roses and here again peat moss plays an important part. It is used for making light soils heavier and heavy soils lighter.

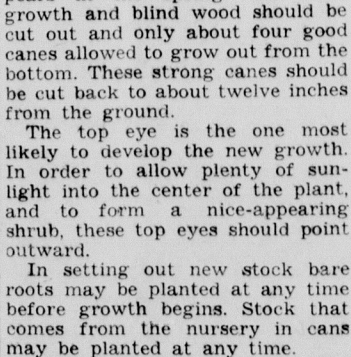

Fertilizer is an important part of rose gardening. The family garden is not a better place for a good application of cow manure about twice a year, once in the spring and once in the fall. Blood meal is good as a heavy stimulant, and bone meal is used as a very slow-acting fertilizer.

Roses like an abundance of water and fertilizer, anyone will have success with roses. Good healthy plants will not be bothered much with insects and disease, but a regular spraying with a good nicotine solution will keep down aphids, thrips, and all sucking insects. The chewing insects, such as leaf-rollers and leaf miners need to be sprayed with arsenical dust. A regular application of sulphur dust will help control mildew and black spot.

Pruning is an important detail of rose culture and should be attended to before new growth appears in the spring. All weak growth and blind wood should be cut out and only about four good canes allowed to grow out from the bottom. These strong canes should be cut back to about twelve inches from the ground.

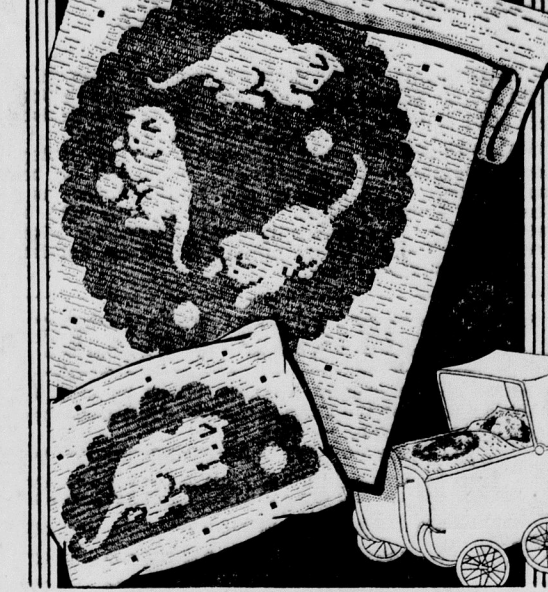

The top eye is the one most likely to develop the new growth. In order to allow plenty of sunlight into the center of the plant, and to form a nice-appearing shrub, these top eyes should point outward.

In setting out new stock bare roots may be planted at any time before growth begins. Stock that comes from the nursery in cans may be planted at any time.

Air Your Hair in Smart Crochet

PATTERN 5672

Air your "hair" in smart crochet, and he'll be the most admired baby in the block! Bundle him in with the cute kitten coverlet and pillow, both adorable in white with blue or pink for contrast, or in two shades of one color. It's just plain crochet, easy to do, and light-weight yet warm. German-town wool is used. Each chance you have a friend who'd welcome the throw or pillow as a gift. In pattern 5672 you will find complete instructions and charts for making the set shown; an illustration of it and of the stitches used; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Journal, Household Arts Dept., 117 East Fifth Street, Santa Ana, Calif. Be sure to write plainly your Name, Address and Pattern Number.

The Friday Afternoon

By DONALD BUTTON

The Federal Art Project is on parade.

A Monday evening reception marked opening of a two weeks' show at Stendahl's in Los Angeles.

Beatrice Judd Ryan was there in her official capacity (state director of exhibitions), bringing about the meeting of many of the workers for the first time.

Archipenko was there with lucid comment. And Conrad Buff, the lithographer, let alone the brilliant Dr. Steinhof of U.S.C.

An interesting group, replete even to three midgets.

Means and modes of expression in this Federal Arts Show are many. Hammered copper is seen with carved wood, mosaic with tempera, oil and water color. The guiding hand of McDonald Wright is in evidence many of the pictures.

Taken individually, Jane Ahning (the Balboa school murals artist) has nice figure studies. Pastel color and good drawing.

PEGASUS CLUB AT WAS HOME YESTERDAY
Pegasus club met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank Was, where members were served a dainty dessert course before their customary delightful program.

Mrs. Frank Lansdown, acting as chairman, gave a very interesting synopsis of the childhood of Lord Byron as the initial part of the program which was based upon a quotation from his work.

There's music in the sighing of a reed.
There's music in the gushing of a rill.
There's music in all things—if men had ears—

After her charming introduction, each member contributed some little verse or story based on her conception of the lyric. These included one titled "The Return" by Mrs. Walter Foote; "The Song of the Tumbleweed" and "Lake McDonald," written by Mrs. Charles Fuller on a recent vacation trip; and "Music of the Sea" by Mrs. Justus Birtcher.

Mrs. George Bond contributed three little poems, one a triolet called "Music Cheers," and the other two in septimo form, titled "In Tune," and "Beside the Hearth." Very interesting too was Mrs. George Munro's treatment of the subject in a poem called "Music of the World." She likened the four voices of a quartet to the sentiments and characteristics of the world.

Mrs. Was presented an imaginary dialogue between the little princes of the Tower, called "The White Rose," and Mrs. Malcolm Macurda had a short story, "Love Never Fails."

Mrs. Charles Brisco's contribution was a lovely melody written to a little poem she had found called "The World Is Full of Music," and Mrs. Earl Morris' poem was called "A Morning Sunrise."

Two pleasant additional surprises were the announcement of Mrs. Bond that her poem, "Orange Trees" had been accepted for publication in "Circle," and the introduction of her guest, Mrs. Carrie Switzer of San Diego, who also contributed an original poem, "A Baby's Record Book."

Mrs. Rose Jackson and Mrs. Rose were the other members of the club who were present.

Children's Book Is Reviewed

The importance of conserving our wild life so that our children may know the America—that was stressed in "Animals of the Canadian Rockies" (Dodd, Mead), by Dan McCowan, famed naturalist.

He tells of the fascinating lives of more than a score of animals which live in the West, from the ponderous grizzlies down to tiny mice which look like deer.

Big horn sheep, beaver, muskrat, mink and others pass in dwindling parade as civilization marches on.

As McCowan shows how the lives of these animals are coming, one depending on the other in the vast balance of nature, it is easy to see how the destruction of that balance will affect the whole North American continent.

Photographs of these animals snapped after hours of stalking, form a living gallery which shows the great pleasure which Americans can enjoy in the study of American game animals if proper conservation measures are taken so that these creatures are not wiped from the face of the earth.

MRS. M'FADDEN CLUB HOSTESS

Mrs. Edwin T. McFadden was hostess to her little contract club Wednesday afternoon at her home, 2121 Greenleaf street.

She served a dainty salad course and used scarlet tapers and colorful ranunculus blossoms as table decorations. At the conclusion of the afternoon Mrs. Henry Williams was awarded the award for high score.

Guests of Mrs. McFadden were Mrs. Hubert Nall, Mrs. Paul Ragan, Mrs. Harold Nelson, Mrs. Walter Hill, Mrs. John Cannon, Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Joseph Danner, substituting for Mrs. J. B. Tucker.

'HI' JOHNSON IN THICK OF COURT WAR

Californian and Borah Join Battle Against President's Plan

By HERBERT A. YOCOM

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Sen. Hiram W. Johnson could not have returned to the political wars under more timely circumstances than at the outset of the controversy over the President's court reorganization plan.

The Californian had not been at his desk more than a few hours before all Washington knew "Hi" was back on the job and in a fighting mood. His forthright denunciation of President Roosevelt's plan as a "subversive" of the supreme court, and his news break of the day on Capitol Hill.

Stand Significant

To members of congress the Johnson defection was significant for two reasons.

First, they attempted to read into it the final breaking of the ties of a close friendship between the chief executive and the independent California Republican, who supported Mr. Roosevelt for election in 1932, but remained silent in '36.

Second, it signaled another reunion of the senate's most famous and powerful debate team—Johnson and William Edgar Borah of Idaho, who likewise announced against the judiciary reorganization plan.

Strength in Union

There is not much to support the first conclusion, for in most respects Johnson sees an eye to eye with Mr. Roosevelt.

But no one doubts the strength of the combined opposition to the senior senators from California and Idaho to the President's plan. Together they constitute a major obstacle to its adoption. One has to go back only a couple of years to note the strength of a Johnson-Borah union, for in 1935, in the face of apparently overwhelming odds, they were mainly responsible for the defeat of another pet Roosevelt proposal—American adherence to the World Court.

Peels Like 'Dab'

Senator Johnson's first appearance on the senate floor after his long illness was the signal for long-time friends to crowd around and grip him by the hand.

"I felt just like a debutante," the senator told reporters later.

The outspoken opposition of Johnson to the President's program served to cement opinion within the normally pro-administration California delegation for and against the plan, with Sen. William Gibbs McAdoo at the head of those favoring it.

Sheppard Silent

An early poll of the delegation showed 9 for and 7 against, while six remained silent—Representatives Englebright, Carter, Tolan, Welch, Sheppard and Stubbs.

Incidentally, on their first opportunity to vote on any kind of a court proposal after the President's message, the delegation voted 18 to 1 in favor of the bill to provide for voluntary retirement on pension of supreme court justices at the age of 70.

Rep. B. W. Gearhart, Fresno Republican, was the lone dissenter, while Henry E. Stubbs, Democrat, of Santa Maria, was ill and did not vote.

Frat Pledge Loots 'Stript' Artist' of Underwear

BOSTON, (AP)—The prank of a Massachusetts Institute of Technology student left Kiki Roberts, burlesque strip artist, stripped of certain dainty finery overnight—but today all was forgiven.

The student, member of a prominent Massachusetts family, was released from custody after he explained he took the finery from her dressing room as part of a fraternity initiation. An officer seized him as he left the stage door with Kiki's "unmentionables."

But Kiki had them back today, plus a 50-cent piece, left on her dressing table by the student as a token. He said he was told by fraternity brothers the token would prevent his arrest for larceny.

PLAN UNITED ACTION ON FLOODS

Plans were under way today to correlate flood control programs in California following a conference in Los Angeles yesterday afternoon attended by three Orange County officials.

The program contemplates presenting a united front in seeking federal money for flood control programs in California.

Supervisor Harry D. Riley, Anaheim, was named on a committee headed by Chairman H. C. Legg of the Los Angeles board of supervisors, which will arrange for a meeting at which all California counties will be represented to formulate a definite plan of action. This meeting will be held in Sacramento a month from now.

Several Plans

Supervisor Legg made four concrete proposals which were accepted in principle by those present. The first was that, however, must be ratified by official action of the various boards of supervisors. These proposals were:

To communicate with supervisors of northern counties to acquaint them with the general plan and ask their cooperation.

To petition Governor Merriam to the end that greater strength be given the state planning board so it may work with local agencies in preparation of a state-wide program of flood control and water resource projects and a state program of works projects to be submitted to the President to comply with requirements of the six-year federal public works program.

Federal Help

To petition Governor Merriam further to consider the great need of establishing and maintaining in Washington an office equipped with qualified personnel to work closely at all times with all federal agencies in matters of interest to the state through the establishment of a fair and equitable share of money expected to be expended through the federal authority.

Supervisor N. E. West, Laguna Beach, also represented Orange County at the flood control conference.

That the committee meet with Edward Hyatt, state engineer of California, and federal water consultants to better protect the counties of the state through the establishment of a fair and equitable share of money expected to be expended through the federal authority.

Supervisor N. E. West, Laguna Beach, also represented Orange County at the flood control conference.

WHITE BRIDE PLEADS FOR NEGRO MATE

SEATTLE, (AP)—Young-freely-faced Delta Palmer Menifield, held today in the juvenile detention home, cried because she wanted to be with her 38-year-old negro husband, John Lee Menifield.

"I want to keep house—I like to cook and do things like that," she said. "I want to be with John, always," said the child-wife whose marriage last Sunday led to filing of a perjury complaint against her mother and charges of subornation of perjury against her father and her husband. She said she was 14. Her mother said 18.

"I want to go home—so badly," the girl told a deputy prosecuting attorney. "John's always been very good to me. I don't like school, anyway. I never did like it."

The little seventh grade school pupil danced up defiantly when asked about her age. She said she was 14 last Jan. 13.

"But that doesn't matter," she whimpered. "I love him."

It was the age question which led to the arrest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Palmer, and of the dusky bridegroom who worked on a garbage heap. Mrs. Palmer signed an affidavit the girl was 18 to obtain the marriage license, the state charged, and Palmer and Menifield abetted.

Washington marriage laws under the marriage of a girl under 15, even with parental consent, but specifies the marriage of a girl under 12 is valid if consummated. Giving misinformation in a marriage license constitutes perjury.

MURRAY IN WITCH FILM

Fred MacMurray, who has played roles as a newspaperman, Texas ranger, band leader, society boy, engineer and whatnot, is seen in his first historical film, "Maid of Salem," currently showing at the West Coast theater. In this picture of Salem during the witch scare in 1692, MacMurray is co-starred for the third time with Claudette Colbert. Here he is seen as a fugitive from Virginia where he had dared question the king's prerogative.

He takes refuge in old Salem, in the Massachusetts colony. Fear of arrest makes it necessary for him to hide in his uncle's home and it is there that he meets Miss Colbert. From here on the picture, never lacking in interest, shows the beginning of the "witch scare" and the subsequent awakening of the people by MacMurray of the folly in their belief of Miss Colbert and MacMurray are supported by a cast which includes Louise Dresser, Gale Sondergaard, E. E. Cline, Harvey Stephens, Bonita Granville, Virginia Weidler and many others.

The second nature on the double bill has George O'Brien as "Daniel Boone" in the outdoor drama taken from the colorful life of that early American character. A strong supporting cast features John Carradine, Heather Angel, Ralph Forbes, George Regas and others.

Black Cala Lily Blooms in S. A.

A black calla lily, a rare sight even in its proper season, is blooming ahead of time in the backyard of the J. H. Kirkland home at 804 Hickory street.

In reporting on the early flowering of this strange plant, Mrs. Kirkland invites all who wish to see it to visit her garden today, as she does not expect the blossom to last more than 24 hours.

'Scantygreasers' Don't Like Name Of Their Town

KELSO, Wash. (AP)—The populace of Scantygrea has gone dignified. Citizens are tired of being "scantygreasers" and furthermore, they believe the name of their community no longer is accurately descriptive.

So they have petitioned county commissioners to rename the town "Delameter."

The region won its name half a century ago because fat was so scarce housewives used turnips to grease their frying pans.

TO HOLD CHURCH IN THEATER

Songs and sermons will soon ring out in the Broadway theater. The Journal learned today that when construction work on a new building for the First Presbyterian church at Sixth and Sycamore streets is launched church services will be held in the Broadway theater.

It was announced by the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of the church, that plans and specifications for the new church edifice have been given out to a number of contractors, and that construction work will start in the near future.

The Rev. Mr. McFarland expects actual construction work to get under way right after Easter. The new building, which will cost about $50,000, will be erected at the present church site at Sixth and Sycamore streets.

Members of the building committee are M. B. Youel, A. H. Allen, Stephen Grisct, Frank A. Henderson, O. W. Witt, Mrs. Charles H. Baird, Mrs. H. M. Curry, Harvey Bear and Miss Eugenia Gilbert.

Trials of Ralph Showalter and Daniel R. Osborne on auto theft charges was set today for March 10. They pleaded not guilty before Superior Judge James L. Allen.

416 WEST FOURTH STREET SANTA ANA

Heads Market

J. C. SHORE

J. C. Shore, who for the past six years has been with the A. and P. stores, has been appointed manager for the A. and P. market on West Fourth street. He comes to Santa Ana from Huntington Park, where he has been with the A. and P. store, bringing with him the mercantile experience acquired in other cities and with the A. and P. organization. He will be in complete charge of the extensive West Fourth street market, which includes grocery, fruit, vegetable and meat departments. It is Shore's intention to add to the popularity of the market and make it a center and showplace for the housewives of Santa Ana to do their food shopping. His impression of Santa Ana has been favorable and instantaneous. He likes the city and the friendly welcome of its people, he said. He is arranging to move his family to this city as soon as living quarters can be secured. Shore likes and knows the food problem, and has offered to extend a personal assistance to marketing needs.

PLAN PROBE OF ARMED PLANE

NEW YORK. (AP)—A mysterious Vultee monoplane, mounted with six machine guns and believed consigned to a foreign government, was under police guard today at Floyd Bennett field. The ship was flown into the field last night by a pilot who signed in only as "Williams," and said he brought the plane from Glendale, Calif., where it was manufactured. The ship is unlicensed, and bears only an identification number. Police guarded the craft to prevent dismantling. Officials at the field said a federal investigation was under way.

SMUGGLING OF RUM HALTED

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Custom officials said today they have plugged nearly all the "holes" through which liquor has been smuggled into the United States. Frank Dow, assistant commissioner of the customs bureau, reported to congress that very little liquor is being smuggled from Canada, but some still is coming across the Rio Grande from Mexico.

VOTE SATURDAY ON NEUTRALITY

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The senate foreign relations committee has decided to vote Saturday on the Pittman "cash and carry" neutrality bill. Chairman Pittman forecast the measure would be approved Saturday without substantial change. It would make the present temporary neutrality law permanent, with some important additions.

New Kansas Bill Bans All Alcohol

TOPEKA, Kas. (AP)—The sale in Kansas of any beverage containing any alcohol would be prohibited under a bill passed this week by the state house of representatives, 84 to 37. The bill makes illegal "all beverages which contain any per cent or fraction of a per cent of alcohol by weight or volume." It now goes to the senate where its fate is uncertain. Sale of intoxicating beverages is prohibited at present, but the percentage of alcohol permitted has not been specified.

Slayer Goes to Electric Chair

EDDYVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Smiling and calm, George Underwood, convicted slayer, who blamed his plight on the fact "I never went to church," died in the state's electric chair here early today. The 22-year-old Bullitt county farmer was convicted of killing Wallace Van Fleet, Lebanon Junction marshal last April.

RECIPROCAL TRADE
WASHINGTON. (AP)—The senate finance committee reported without amendment today a resolution to extend the reciprocal trade act for three years. The present law expires June 12.

MEET H. A. SMITH, RED AND WHITE GROCER

These Red and White grocers are an interesting bunch. Grouped together they all measure up as efficient and practical business men. They like the business. That is why they are in it. Among this week is presented H. A. Smith, who has operated a grocery store at 910 Myrtle street for the past seven years. When the Red and White organization started, he started with it. Satisfied with the identification, he has continued it, which is a very conclusive reason that it functions to the benefit of those who are associated with it. He operates a 100 per cent Red and White grocery.

At the Smith place of business you will be able to find everything you need in the food lines. He has fruits, meats, vegetables, and a variety of groceries of such appetizing temptations that you can't resist. When you want something particularly palatable, ask Smith. He has it for you. And he has a delivery service to get it to you. Mr. Smith's experience is of worth-while value to the trade. He has an attractive store, the kind you like to shop in. Mr. Corwin E. Frazee and Mrs. Frazee assist Mr. Smith in the operation of the store.

The Smith store appropriately fits in with the other popular Red and White stores, located in convenient spots about the city of Santa Ana, and go to make neighborhood shopping convenient and economical. You will see the Red and White sign displayed conspicuously, which is a guarantee of high-grade merchandise and satisfactory service.

Mr. Smith gives his personal supervision to the management of the store, to purchases of merchandise, all with a view of selecting what the buying public prefers, but he does like to take a little time out to shoot a few games of golf, which is a badge of good fellowship. It is his hobby, and he won't have any trouble getting a large number of fellows to agree that he has made a good selection.

Mr. Smith and his assistants, Mr. and Mrs. Frazee, have a large acquaintance, but they would like to enlarge this list, so if you have not called at the Smith food market on Myrtle street, 910 is the number, do so and they will extend a welcome, and take care of your food wants. He has something which has a palatable flavor. The Smiths have a common name, but they have an unusual grocery store.

Lathrop Junior High News

Since Lathrop boys have taken to the kitchen, the girls have taken to the shops. A Girls' Recreational Woodshop club has been organized by Mr. Orr of the Lathrop shops. The girls report that they are enjoying work in the shops just as much as the boys are in their food class. Those girls who belong to the club are Marjorie Bosworth, Shirley Carr, Jay Engel, Dorothy Ferrell, Doris Fowler, Eva Hoenshel, Audrey Jacobs, Rose Koral, Dorothy Ladd, Dorothy Nelson, Ruth Nelson, Mary Pappas, Betty Peryman, Marie Senn and Maurine Waters.

Girls' physical education classes under Miss Hazel Thrasher's supervision have chosen their leaders for the new semester. The third period class has as its captains Erna Jean May and Theodora Pappas. Squad leaders and monitors for this group are Nanette Hubbard, Lily Mae MacDonald, Darlene Sherkey, Dea Hoe, Grace Holms, Ruanne Neighbor, Betty Gowdy, June Banfield, Dorothy Cowser, Pauline Smith, Mary MacDonald and Gertrude Knox. The fourth period class chose the following officers: Captains, Beverly Short and Ruth Ames; squad leaders and monitors, Glenn Jean Deardorff, Mary Alice Tillson, Marion Blackburn, Alberta Foster, Ruth Anderson, Phyllis Brochblank, Jane Dale, La Paye Steed, Peggy Lou Hoffman, Jo Lorraine Adams, Lowell Branson, Charrmain Carlson and Barbara Brisco. Fifth period class officers are: Captains, Violet Walker and Rose Griggs; squad leaders and monitors, Marion Knoll, Shirley Gibbs, Dorothy Wall, Virginia Planchon, Florence Thompson, Peggy Wams, Roberta Wisdom, Mary Graupensperger, Winifred Combs, Barbara Nelson, Melva Yarbrough, Lenore Walker and Ruth Mary Childs.

Eight grade science classes with Ferris Scott as instructor are now studying planets, meteors and comets. Seventh graders are studying elementary geology, which includes stratified, sedimentary and metamorphic rocks.

Miss Pearl Nicholson's home room enjoyed a valentine party last Friday. Fortunes were told, valentines distributed, and refreshments of ice cream and cookies were served.

Officers for Mrs. Grace Wolf's room have been elected as follows: President, Milton Danielson; vice president, David Craighead; secretary, Lillian Chapman; sergeant, George Detweiler; reporter, Dorothy Farrell; and boys' athletic manager, Willie Cordova.

James Boyles has been chosen as president of Mrs. Marguerite Hill's home room, Helen Birdsall is vice president, Marguerite Alvord is secretary, Robert Ashby is sergeant, and Paul Aguilar, athletic manager.

A short story contest is being sponsored by Mrs. Hill's and Mrs. Beeson's literature classes. Each student will write an original short story. The best ones will appear in the March number of the Lathrop Lineup. Judges for the contest will be members of the English department.

The first regular meeting of the Every Girls club for the spring semester was held last week on Friday. Nancy Morris, the new president, introduced Aileen Fipps, Lorraine Crawford, Marion Blackburn, Lois Bands, Phyllis Dugan, Joell Branson, Jeanne Pagenkopp and Norma Edwards, who presented a skit, "On a Plantation in 1863." The scene took place in the negro quarters, and dealt with the emancipation proclamation. A reading on Abraham Lincoln was given by Doris Lorraine Faupel. Miss Mary Boyer, of the children's library, gave a talk on puppetry. She told of the history of puppets and showed some interesting examples to the girls. Girl Reserve talks were given by Pat Flaherty and Beverly Teles, and the program was ended.

Bill Was, new president of the Boys I. V. L., opened the last meeting of that organization with reading of the minutes by the secretary, James Cruze. David Craighead gave a violin solo, and Mr. Nelson introduced the speaker, Dwight Hamilton. Mr. Hamilton, who has been in radio service as an operator on coast vessels sailing both the Atlantic and Pacific, described the life and activities of the radio operator on passenger and freight vessels. He pointed out the fact that a seaman's life is not all glamour. He said that the hours were often long and lonesome. Mr. Hamilton is now with the trust department of the First National bank.

Weather permitting, Lathrop boys will start their training for track right away, reports Mr. Archer of the Lathrop physical education department. Class "C" boys will have their season first, while the midgets, juniors, and intermediates will not start until March 1. Class "B" boys are very much interested in baseball. They hope to fit into the high school second team competition, with games also starting March 1. A very successful basketball season has first been completed at Lathrop, with each team winning a majority of their games, except class "B," which proved too slow for high school competition. Class "C" team won seven out of 12 games; class "D" three out of four games; juniors six out of 10 games and the midgets four out of five games, with several more to play. Lathrop's total points for the season were 588 to her opponent's total of 436.

Girls of Mrs. Sinkle's high seven foods class elected officers as follows: Katherine Stockton, president; Betty Shidler, vice president; Andronichi Pappas, secretary. Lenore Walker is president of another high seven foods class, while Dorothy Wallis is vice president and Florence Thompson secretary.

The high eighth foods class has for its president Ellen Fipps, its vice president, Marion Blackburn, its secretary, Norma Edwards and its sergeant, Nancy Steinberger.

Eighth grade Girl Reserves enjoyed a Valentine party recently at Mary Ruth MacDougall's home. Twenty-five girls enjoyed the games and refreshments planned by the committee.

Miss Olive Wherry's home room officers are: president, Jack Musick; vice president, Lyle Murray; secretary, Marilyn Munsell; sergeant, Mardell Norwood and athletic manager, Jack Musick.

Miss Rideout's social studies class has for its president, Jack Musick, for its secretary, Louise Haven, sergeant, Alfred Haigh and critic, Jack James.

Miss Pearl Nicholson, who has charge of the Red Cross collections at Lathrop reports that our fund has increased from the last total of $73.10 to $79.09 in February. Our total including 1936 and 1937 (September to February) was $88.09. We are very proud that Lathrop stands high in her contributions.

'Forty-Niner's Day' Planned

DEATH VALLEY. (AP)—T. R. Goodwin, of the national parks service in charge of Death Valley Monument, is rounding up the pioneers and miners for a "Forty-Niner's Day" here Saturday, Feb. 27.

There will be a flapjack frying contest, horse races, miners' tug of war, parade and other events that will bring back memories of the ghost gold towns as well as the struggling parties which gave the valley its gloomy name.

All Pupils in City Fingerprinted

ST. CLOUD, Minn. (AP)—St. Cloud claimed the distinction today of having fingerprinted its entire public and parochial school population of 6,600 students.

The city junior chamber of commerce sponsored the project two months ago after the federal bureau of investigation suggested the value of compiling fingerprints of all persons in the nation. The Bertillon cards will be sent to Washington for filing.

THE BUNGLE FAMILY

Comfortable, inspectors? Right! I first heard of the Great Idol's Eye ruby one night on a stroll in Singapore. Two chaps. One said:

"Yur. A ruby. As big as your bloomin' head, mate."

"Gammon. Pure gammon."

"Heard you mention a ruby, and..."

"In a idol's eye. In a temple, guv'nor. S'truth."

"While natives were doin' in my mater, I saw it, as I run away."

"Ere's wot they did to me. These scars. Look."

"H-mm! Step along with me to my hotel, fellow."

For hours he described the temple...showed me maps. The next day he was gone. Knifed.

Smudge—And the Next Big Freeze

THE BATTLE against too much smudge continues to flame in a few Southland communities.

At San Gabriel an Anti-Smudge league goes on record as "unalterably" opposed to smudge.

At Riverside a pioneer citrus grower suggests that smudging be abandoned during hopeless freezes like the recent one, and that growers reimburse themselves for the loss out of an indemnity insurance fund built up among themselves for just such a purpose.

Smokeless heaters—a moderately expensive investment—have long been suggested as mandatory.

Smudge—for all the good it does at times—has its bad points most decidedly. Health authorities were almost unanimous in blaming the heavy smudging for the flu epidemic; the smoke ruins merchandise in stores and dirties linen in homes; and the cost of excessive firing with its oil and labor is a drain on the ranch pocketbook.

But freezes come in California only about every 15 years. The public forgets rapidly. Unless action is speedily taken to cut down the smudge clouds, the matter probably will be forgotten—until the next major freeze.

Congressman Sheppard delays his opinion on the President's plan for packing the supreme court. Maybe he is waiting for you and others in this district to tell him how you feel. Write him a note. He'll appreciate it.

Crop Insurance a Sensible Plan

CROP INSURANCE—based on time tested principles so successfully practiced by life and fire insurance companies—is proposed by President Roosevelt as a safety measure for the farmer against crop failure.

The suggestion is one of the most businesslike on the farm problem that has come out of Washington in a long time; and it follows to some extent the program which Tom Talbert, Orange county civic leader, has been pushing for 12 years.

One beauty of crop insurance is that the premiums and claims are payable in the commodity which is insured, or in warehouse receipts for the same. The farmers who pay the premiums are the ones who pay the losses. There is no heavy overhead load on the general taxpayer.

A trial of the insurance idea on the 1938 wheat crop is recommended by the President. Congress should approve this. Data so obtained will be of immense value in applying the plan to other major commodities, if it proves successful in wheat.

It's hard for a frantic pedestrian to realize that the General Motors strike kept 250,000 cars out of production in January.

'Doll Brides' and China

ONE of the most tragic additions to the sideshow of American life is the recent parade of "doll brides," ending up yesterday with the 14-year-old girl in Seattle who married a man of another race 24 years her senior.

She says she loves her husband with a love that will endure. Maybe so. But statistics show that marriages where man and wife are widely apart in age and race tend more to failure than to success.

It is significant in almost all of the "doll bride" cases, that the parents strongly approve and think daughter will do better with a husband than at home.

Yet this is the country which is horrified by the old Chinese custom of selling unwanted daughters into a form of marriage slavery!

A cockeyed world is one where workers sit down to stand up for what they want.

A 'Longtime' Proposition

THE ROOSEVELT court program might provide—as some liberals assert—a quick and easy way to get all forms of social legislation without delay.

But the more we study the President's simple solution of his difficulties the more we wonder what might happen to certain "inalienable rights" under a precedent, established now because of a benign purpose, if employed by some future leadership with vicious intent.

So the court issue is not as much of an immediate one, affecting only the program of the present administration as it is a "longtime" proposition.

Perhaps Stalin and Trotsky are both right—about each other.

Representative of What?

ALL MEMBERS of congress and the better-paid federal officials will have to file annually a statement of the stocks and bonds they own, if a bill proposed by Senator Frazier of North Dakota goes through.

Members of congress would also be forced to disclose what firms they had been connected with for the two preceding years, either as attorney or director.

There may be sound arguments against this proposal, but offhand we can't think of any. Ours is supposed to be a representative government, and it is pertinent always to ask: Representative of what?

Life is just one blamed plan after another for Franklin D.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

Thoughts while strolling: They are calling the globe-trotting newspaper gal Dorothy Kilgallen another Dorothy Parker.

Harry Burton and Ray Bolger could pass for twins in a fog. A d d u p a flounce, a ruffle and a curtsey and you have Miriam Hopkins.

How to make a columnist blush—read his first column at a party. What's become of the Duke of Manchester? Memo to Bob Burns: Fewer chestnuts, please. Radio's No. 1 in-and-out-er: A Woolcott.

Rhyme: None leaps so lightly over a chair as dancing, prancing Fred Astaire. Arthur Hopkins with sideburns would be a perfect ringer for John Bull. Crack sports page cartooning: That of Burns Jenkins, Jr.

Movie memory: Virginia Valli and Pat O'Malley. And how many remember the school slate bound in red felt and dangling a smelly sponge on a string?

Picturesque old timer: Dex Fellows of the circus. Never see a meerschaum pipe with a chamois covering any more. Nobody tops Floyd Gibbons in packing excitement into his voice. Nothing makes a fellow so self-conscious along the street as soft, mocking laughter behind.

True to beginner's luck form: Gene Tunney played in his first poker game recently after the game was patiently explained to him in detail. He was the only winner.

I know a man who escaped decapitation by an eyelash in a sudden drop of an elevator into whose shaft he was peering. He went home limp and adrip with a perspiration so offensive he had to bury every article of clothing. Including his shoes. It recalls an article Rufus Steele once wrote on an odd psychological perfume generated by fear in the diamond back rattler. Ordinarily the aroma from the diamond back is similar to sweet apples, pleasantly aromatic. But aroused by the fright of an approaching enemy, it fills the air for a mile around with an unbearable stench.

Then, that relative—a cousin as I recall—of Warwick Deering, the author, who awoke one night in the room of an isolated inn along a bleak stretch of Cornish coast. He lit a candle and standing over him was a wild-eyed maniac with an upraised broad axe. A sudden scream caused the mad-man to turn and run. The victim at his shaving mirror next day discovered a faint blotch on his neck. Under inspection it had the outline of an upraised axe in blood red and remained a permanent token of his terrorizing experience.

Also there is the odd impress so often expressed in many a thought in a given area. A returning visitor from London tells of the blank despair that settled on London the night of the king's take off. In thousands of restaurants food was ordered and untouched. One play sold but 37 admissions to foreigners. Strangest of all, patients in hospitals whose conditions did not permit them to know their sovereign was thinking of quitting his throne, in almost every instance, grew more feverish and restless during the night. Similarly there was much unrest in hospitals everywhere during the Ohio valley floods.

New York has had three sets of caterers who ran successfully in double harness. The first were John and Cristo who ruled over the dining at old Reisenweber's in Columbus Circle and afterward at various popular haunts. Later, they split and John became the maitre d'hotel of a Hollywood restaurant. The more recent team-up consists of Jack and Charlie who conduct the widely three-sheeted "No. 21." And more successful still were Gene and Ernest who presided over the most exclusive restaurant perhaps of all—The Colony—until Ernest's recent passing.

Jitter julep: Lynn Fontanne tells of the confused jay walker near the Ritz receiving a cop's quick push toward a curb. Turning, he jip-squaked: "See here, who do you push I am if a tax payer is all I hope!" And that was tellin' him!

EVERYDAY MOVIES

"My sleeves are longer, my skirts are longer. I look thinner and feel thinner and the scales say I've lost, so I must be thinner."

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—Some of the New Dealers who are worried over the defection of senate liberals from the President's supreme court proposals have worked out a compromise plan which they believe will swing Wheeler, Norris, Hiram Johnson, Borah and other prima donnas into line.

The latter are purists, who believe the only way to check the nine old men is through a constitutional amendment definitely limiting the court's power. They consider Roosevelt's proposals roundabout and makeshift.

The compromise, therefore, is to pass a constitutional amendment, but tack on to it a rider which would provide that in case the amendment failed of ratification by the necessary 36 states, the Roosevelt reform proposals automatically become law.

This idea is finding some favor among progressives, but gets no shred of encouragement from the conservative bloc.

UNLUCKY 13
Supreme court attaches say that the reason Attorney General Cummings has been so unlucky in the opinions handed him by the Hughes sitting in No. 1, Justice their part, but because his seat in the supreme court chamber is No. 13.

Seats are numbered for all court dignitaries. Chief Justice Hughes sitting in No. 1, Justice Cardozo, youngest member in terms of service, in No. 9; the clerk, marshal and reporter in Nos. 10, 11, and 12, and the attorney general in No. 13.

TROUBLE IN PARADISE
Mrs. Roosevelt continues to have difficulty in bringing complete paradise to the "little bit of heaven" she has established at the Arthurdale, W. Va., home-stead project.

The first lady motors there frequently, is on the best of terms with all the settlers, but they always have something to complain about. Latest complaint is over power rates.

A local company sold power to the Resettlement administration at the rate of 5 cents per kilowatt hour, which was sold to the settlers in turn at 6 cents.

This was rather embarrassing to the administration, since the famous "yardstick" rate of TVA gives a maximum of 3 cents per kilowatt hour, even goes down to one cent according to the amount used.

Naturally the difference caused loud walls of protest. Finally the company reduced the rate to 3 cents. But this never has been passed on to the settlers. They still continue to pay the 6-cent rate.

MERRY-GO-ROUND
Though congress is likely to be kept in session until summer, the senate is now marking time, waiting for bills to come out of committees. It has met on only 24 of the 44 calendar days since the opening of Jan. 5, and has remained in session for a total of only 50 hours.

Few persons are aware of the big banking business done by the United States senate. This law-making body engages in check-cashing to the extent of $30,000,000 yearly.

Friends of the late Susan B. Anthony were not thrilled by the eulogy on Miss Anthony recited in the senate by Senator Pope of Idaho. Fault lay not with Pope but with his senate colleagues, who were interested in everything but Susan B. Anthony.

The famed senate irreconcilables, Hiram Johnson and Bill Borah, are snaring a new recruit. They take turns sitting beside young Henry Cabot Lodge in the senate chamber, stiffening him to be as irreconcilable as his late grandfather.

The war department has kissed good-bye to the blankets and coats issued to flood victims. Though nominally issued for temporary use, these goods cannot be collected again, and no effort is made to do so.

NOT SO CLOSE
How irate the President is at Stanley High, his one-time "good neighbor" advisor, is indicated by orders given the guards at the door of the White House not to admit Dr. High even to the outer lobby of the executive offices.

Dr. High recently contributed articles to The Saturday Evening Post and Liberty in which he was represented as being a close adviser who could speak for the President.

WARY WALLACE
Henry Wallace would like to use a poetic phrase now and then, but he has become the post phrase-shy person in Washington.

He had a neat phrase to express the idea of crop control, calling it "storing the grain in the soil." But, he hastened to add, "Don't make any mistake. I'm not talking about plowing crops under!"

All the talk about the "killer of little pigs" is what made Henry so wary.

The measure extending the life of the RFC for two more years opened the floodgates in the house to some hot political bickering. The Democrats chided the Republicans for opposing monetary stability.

"Is it not a fact," bellowed Mike Reilly, Wisconsin Democrat, "that the Republican party in its platform of 1932 declared against guaranteeing bank deposits?"

"The Republican party," admitted Massachusetts' erudite Republican Robert Luce, "occasionally suffers from a lapse of good sense."

SUPREME COURT
To the Editor: In these times when the Supreme Court is under fire, it may be timely to consider the following expression of opinion by a prominent member of the federal judiciary, addressing the American Bar association.

"The opportunity freely and publicly to criticize judicial action is of vastly more importance to the body politic than the immunity of courts and judges from unjust aspersions and attack. Nothing tends more to render judges careful in their decisions than the consciousness that every act of theirs is to be subjected to the intelligent scrutiny and candid criticism of their fellow men. Such criticism is beneficial in proportion as it is fair, dispassionate, discriminating and based on a knowledge of sound legal principles. The comments made by learned text writers and by acute editors of the various law reviews upon judicial decisions are therefore highly useful. Such critics constitute more or less impartial tribunals of professional opinion before whom judgment is made to stand or fall on its merits and thus exert a strong influence to secure uniformity of decision. But non-professional criticism is by no means without its uses, even if accompanied, as it often is, by a direct attack upon the judicial fairness and motives of the occupants of the bench; for if the law is but the essence of common sense, the protest of many laymen may evidence a defect in a judicial conclusion though based on the nicest legal reasoning and profoundest learning. The two important elements of moral character in a judge are an earnest desire to reach a just conclusion and courage to enforce it. In so far as fear of public comment does not affect the courage of a judge but only spurs him on to search his conscience and to reach the result which approves itself to his inmost heart, such comment serves a useful purpose.

"There are few men, whether they are judges for life or for a shorter term, who do not prefer to earn and hold the respect of all, and who cannot be reached and made to pause and deliberate by hostile public criticism. In the case of judges having a life tenure, indeed, their very independence makes the right freely to comment on their decisions of greater importance because it is the only practical and available instrument in the hands of a free people to keep such judges alive to the reasonable demands of those they serve."

These words are the utterance of former President of the United States and Chief Justice of the Supreme Court William Howard Taft. CURTIS HILLYER. San Diego.

While many Orange county residents slept peacefully during the recent floods hundreds of ranchers worked as long as 22 hours fighting to keep back the water which, if not controlled, would have disturbed their slumbers. And they were not on the relief roll, either. They worked only for the pay they received by protecting their own property, and while this labor may be considered in the light of a selfish service, its benefits were extensive and in many cases included your own property. In the Frank Walker district permission was given by a rancher to cut down and use eucalyptus trees to hold back the rushing water, as sand bags were not available in time. Along the river, at points where danger threatened, ranchers put in long hours fighting the floods, which some people said never would appear. To these unknown ranchers we are indebted far beyond either realization or appreciation.

Wonder if the weather man has a rain scheduled for next Saturday? If he has, I can get a lot of signatures to a protest petition.

This is a great state for climatic susceptibility. With unfavorable weather the business barometer has a relapse, which is as quickly overcome if followed by sunlight. I've seen fellows in the "dumps" one day who bounced right back the next to an optimism so exhilarating you wouldn't ever imagine the cloud of pessimism has passed his way. If there is a physical virtue in sunshine it also reacts favorably on business.

I found a place for the noon lunch, unknown to the policemen, and it isn't exclusive, either. It couldn't be when I can get in.

Ed. Cochems' versatility has now reached the musical stage. He is the author of the "Song of the Tinkling Dimes." You can get a copy for ten cents. He sold about 50 copies Thursday morning at the Breakfast club. Charley Ash came in with a cash register so Ed. decided to dedicate his new song by an actual demonstration. By the time each member had rung the bell the tinkling dimes totaled about five dollars. The incident reminded me of the real estate man who took some Kansas City prospects out to see some suburban lots, and they stopped just outside the Wichita city limits when, with a grandiose wave of his hand the agent said: "There's the plot." One of the prospects replied that it looked more to him like a conspiracy.

Roy George and I bought remittance checks back to Iowa and by remote control renewed experiences which knocked some calculations into a cocked hat. What we thought couldn't happen, did, and that's why people have to change their minds, and admit that certainties are not of this world. What happened in Iowa, happened in every other state in the union, which showed that "white spots" were as scarce as invitations to a king's coronation. However, times ARE better.

Charley Ash has observed my frequent notations on just any old kind of a memorandum pad, and decided that it's about time for me to get high-brow, so he presents a neat leather folder and a supply of pads on which to record the notes which are later on developed for this column. What made me so darn mad was that he had my name spelled correctly, which prevented me from finding fault. Charley says the National Cash Register Co. doesn't make any provision for errors. Guess that's why Bill Rudd never offered me a job.

Home sweet home: Mother: Guess I'll read the paper, but I suppose there's nothing in it. Mother's boy: Oh yes there is, there's the funnies.

While many Orange county residents slept peacefully during the recent floods hundreds of ranchers worked as long as 22 hours fighting to keep back the water which, if not controlled, would have disturbed their slumbers. And they were not on the relief roll, either. They worked only for the pay they received by protecting their own property, and while this labor may be considered in the light of a selfish service, its benefits were extensive and in many cases included your own property. In the Frank Walker district permission was given by a rancher to cut down and use eucalyptus trees to hold back the rushing water, as sand bags were not available in time. Along the river, at points where danger threatened, ranchers put in long hours fighting the floods, which some people said never would appear. To these unknown ranchers we are indebted far beyond either realization or appreciation.

Wonder if the weather man has a rain scheduled for next Saturday? If he has, I can get a lot of signatures to a protest petition.

This is a great state for climatic susceptibility. With unfavorable weather the business barometer has a relapse, which is as quickly overcome if followed by sunlight. I've seen fellows in the "dumps" one day who bounced right back the next to an optimism so exhilarating you wouldn't ever imagine the cloud of pessimism has passed his way. If there is a physical virtue in sunshine it also reacts favorably on business.

I found a place for the noon lunch, unknown to the policemen, and it isn't exclusive, either. It couldn't be when I can get in.

Ed. Cochems' versatility has now reached the musical stage. He is the author of the "Song of the Tinkling Dimes." You can get a copy for ten cents. He sold about 50 copies Thursday morning at the Breakfast club. Charley Ash came in with a cash register so Ed. decided to dedicate his new song by an actual demonstration. By the time each member had rung the bell the tinkling dimes totaled about five dollars. The incident reminded me of the real estate man who took some Kansas City prospects out to see some suburban lots, and they stopped just outside the Wichita city limits when, with a grandiose wave of his hand the agent said: "There's the plot." One of the prospects replied that it looked more to him like a conspiracy.

Roy George and I bought remittance checks back to Iowa and by remote control renewed experiences which knocked some calculations into a cocked hat. What we thought couldn't happen, did, and that's why people have to change their minds, and admit that certainties are not of this world. What happened in Iowa, happened in every other state in the union, which showed that "white spots" were as scarce as invitations to a king's coronation. However, times ARE better.

Charley Ash has observed my frequent notations on just any old kind of a memorandum pad, and decided that it's about time for me to get high-brow, so he presents a neat leather folder and a supply of pads on which to record the notes which are later on developed for this column. What made me so darn mad was that he had my name spelled correctly, which prevented me from finding fault. Charley says the National Cash Register Co. doesn't make any provision for errors. Guess that's why Bill Rudd never offered me a job.
